VICTORIA STARTS GREAT CELEBRATION

Conference Hears Appeal for Greater Ministerial Zeal

Address on the Church's Place As Economic Teacher
To-day; Important Report of Evangelism and Social Service.

"We must follow a process of constant change with the course of the years and repent that we follow the gleam so tardily. The economic determinism of the Marxian Socialists was fatalism. By that doctrine we are mere creatures of circumstance. It holds a truth, but one needing to be counterpoised. We in the church have had our extreme too. We have erred over the freedom of the individual freedom of the will. And as our sin came first we had the inevitable reaction to the Marxian doctrines of despair and fatalism," said Rev. Hugh Dobson in his devotional address to-day at the B. C. Methodist Conference here. His subject was "The Church as Messenger." He argued to his fellow ministers:

"We ought to preach beyond what we see for the present. We ought to live up to. Realized ideals are of no use, in fact are not ideals. We must project out thought. The man who fails to project a thing because of the moment it is not realizable is culpable."

"Imperial Fatalism."
Mr. Dobson went on: "Then came the war, another imperial fatalism, where the individual will did not count. Labor preaches fatalism. But capital preaches it as well. Money talks. Business is business. There is no Sunday School about trade and finance. And then the fatalism in the Christian group too. The world is getting worse. It is a hopeless world. God is losing out. We need to convince men against all those things that are the one cry for all these, not to persuade men. Persuasion is not enough and will not ally fatalistic movements. We must use messengers, convincing men." He quoted Major Maurice, "If you prepare for war you'll get war. That lie the terrible lie about getting peace through war has not yet been disproved. Our message is to-day to-morrow, always 'Have Faith in God.' There is no room for pessimism in our work as messengers," Mr. Dobson said.

Ordination Services.
The ordination took place yesterday at the conference of the five men of the ordination class who have not hitherto been ordained. There were many expressions of satisfaction in the ordination particularly of the two Oriental members of the class, Mr. Sadao Nakanishi and Mr. Young. Dr. Moore, who preached the ordination sermon, stressed the deep human interest stories caused (Concluded on page 15.)

Spoke of Canada's Place in Empire
Meighen and Others at Dinner
in Ottawa
Ottawa, May 23.—(Canadian Press)—Replying to the speech of Rt. Hon. W. L. Meighen, who after presenting his new chair to the House of Commons was the guest of the Canadian branch of the Empire Parliamentary association at a dinner, Premier Meighen said the heart of Canada, which brought her into the war on August 4, 1914, was as true now as then, and if a similar occasion should arise in the future her actions would be the same. The links that bound the Empire were strong, and the intangible links the strongest of all. There were at times movements to break these links, but when they became serious they ran counter to the strong British sentiment which would outbalance no alternatives.

Best After All.
Sir George Foster stated that fifty cars ago he had had a plan to solve the Empire's trouble, to-day (Concluded on page 15.)

FOR COMMONS
Quebec, Ont., May 23.—South Wellington Liberals at the convention here on Saturday unanimously chose Samuel Carter of this city as the party nominee for the Federal Parliament in the next Dominion general election. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia and Defence, is the present member for the riding. Samuel Carter was a member of the Ontario Legislature for a number of years.

DAY OF MERRY-MAKING.
Kelowna, B. C., May 23.—All in readiness for Victoria Day, when a special boat will bring merry-makers on down the lake. Vernon lacrosse and football teams will play the Kelowna boys. A committee has arranged many features for the day which will include a dance in the evening.

LIGHTNING STRUCK
CAR IN TORONTO
Montreal, May 23.—Lightning struck a street car on Ontario Street at Moreau Street yesterday afternoon during a storm and during the panic that ensued, when the car took a sudden turn, a woman suffered a fractured skull and a girl had her arm fractured.

BRITISH TROOPS TO BE Sent to Silesian Area
London, May 23.—The British Government has decided to send troops to Silesia at an early date, it was announced to-day.

Paris, May 22.—The Allied High Commission in Upper Silesia has sent delegations to intervene with both the Germans and the Poles, and endeavor to obtain the cessation of all military operations in that territory, according to dispatches to-day.

Each of the delegations is composed of representatives of France, Great Britain and Italy.

Preparations.
London, May 23.—The correspondence of The London Times in Oppeln, reporting German "irregular" military operations in Upper Silesia, declares the Germans have been concentrating forces and making preparations for a fortnight. Indications, the dispatch says, point to a determined effort to recover possession of Upper Silesia from the Poles.

The movement is regarded by the correspondent of The Times as far more serious than a mere reaction of the German population against the insurgents. He asserts that the Inter-Allied Commission was unable to prevent the outbreak of fighting, and is just as powerless to intervene. Apparently the Germans have regular army reserves at their disposal.

EUROPEANS KILLED IN ALEXANDRIA

Seventy-two Were Wounded
During Riots

Violence by Natives; Troops in Control Now
Alexandria, Egypt, May 23.—Five Europeans were killed and seventy-two wounded in rioting here Sunday night and this morning. It was announced here to-day. The police casualties were not given out.

Troops There
London, May 23.—Many persons are reported to have been killed in an outbreak in Alexandria, Egypt, where natives attacked Europeans, says a Reuters dispatch from that city. British troops arrived and have taken charge of the town.

It is rumored that the outbreak arose from the killing of a native by a Greek, which led to attacks by the natives on students from Greece and other Europeans.

Ambulances were busy all night taking the wounded to hospitals. Many fires were started, and in one district it was reported that people were being burned alive. Mobs during the night smashed windows for hours, and this morning all business establishments are closed.

Before the arrival of the soldiers this morning the Europeans had gathered at the Government offices, demanding protection or permission to protect themselves. They greeted the troops upon their arrival with great enthusiasm.

Rosen is German Foreign Minister
Berlin, May 23.—(Associated Press)—Dr. Friedrich Rosen, German Minister to Holland, was to-day appointed Foreign Minister in the Cabinet of Chancellor Wirth.

REMOVE BARNACLES
IN UNITED STATES
Harding Wants No Superfluous Office Holders
New York, May 23.—The administration's purpose to place the Federal Government on a sound business basis, even at the cost of offending some of their members recently fired shots. The Nationalists held a big demonstration in Celtic Park.

In England.
London, May 23.—Another arson campaign, supposedly of Sinn Féin origin, occurred Saturday night between 10 o'clock and midnight, when about thirty fires were started, mostly in farm buildings and haystacks and in some cases motor garages, and timber yards in the neighborhood of Jarrow, Wallsend, Stockton and Middlesbrough. Gas mains over the bridge between Jarrow and South Shields exploded temporarily depriving the towns of light.

Fired At.
Some of the suspected incendiaries were fired at by farmers and three arrests were made. The water main outside of Stockton was blown up, causing serious floods.

In most cases the fire damage was very small, but an engineering plant and a sawmill at Stockton were destroyed.

NO ISSUE OF
TIMES TO-MORROW
The staff of The Times will join with the rest of the populace in observing Victoria Day as a holiday. Hence there will be no issue of the paper to-morrow afternoon.

VEREGIN SAYS
DOUKHOBORS ARE READY TO SELL
Grand Forks, B. C., May 23.—"We are ready to sell our holdings in this valley to the highest bidder," Peter Veregin, head of the Doukhobor community of Universal Brotherhood, Limited, told The Grand Forks Gazette. He values the holdings at $2,000,000.

While the credit for the establishment of the Sidney Experimental Station belongs to the Hon. Sir John A. Fisher, the honor of winning the approval of the farmers of the Pacific Coast and the confidence of practical horticulturists and fruit growers for the Sidney station belongs exclusively to Professor Stevenson, who reinforced his practical work on the farm with extensive lecturing throughout the Province, so coming into close touch with conditions and getting first hand (Concluded on page 15.)

NO NEW MOVE TO CLOSE LOOPHOLES
Ottawa, May 23.—(Canadian Press)—Officials here have no knowledge that legislation will be brought down this session to cover possible loopholes through which the Liberty League might be able to declare the Ontario referendum vote of April 18 invalid. This information was forthcoming following the statement of Dr. A. S. Grant, secretary of the Referendum Committee, that if anything was left undone when the law providing for the Ontario vote was passed, it would be covered by legislation to be introduced at the present session of Parliament.

BODY RECOVERED.
Montreal, May 23.—The body of eight-year-old Lily Manning, who fell into a sewer on St. James Street on March 16 last, was recovered this morning in the St. Lawrence River near the Montreal Cotton Mills at the foot of Harbor Street.

WAS DROWNED
Chilliwack, May 23.—Searchers Saturday found the body of Frank Cedrick (Sidi) Young, who disappeared last Tuesday while working on a boom on Supas Lake near Vedder River. The police say it is a clear case of accidental drowning.

Water Cut Off
Every sort of pressure is being employed to compel the surrender of these two important towns. No food is being allowed to enter them, but as this had not proved effective, the army reserves at their disposal.

Wants Generous Display of Bunting and Broom In City To-morrow

The promoters of the Victoria Day Celebration make a public appeal for generous decorations of stores and houses in the centre of the city, particularly on the line of the parade in to-morrow's great street feature.

A request is also made that broom be not taken from the grounds in Beacon Hill Park, as this is absolutely prohibited by law. The Victoria and Island Development Association has interested itself to the extent of seeing that proper tribute is paid to the memory of the late Queen Victoria, in whose honor the celebration is held, by suitably decorating the beautiful statue recently erected in Parliament Square.

Some of the Features.
The features of to-morrow's celebration will consist of the parade, crowning of the Queen of the Carnival, the regatta at the harbor, other features at the Globe and the evening ball at the Empress Hotel in the evening and a street dance on Yates Street. There will also be a large list of sporting events carried out by various athletic organizations in the city.

In several sections of the Island, notably at Nanaimo, Campbell River and Sooke Harbor, special festivals have been planned.

The Parade.
The route of the parade to-morrow will be as follows, commencing at 10:30 from the corner of Yates and School Streets: Down Yates to Douglas, along Douglas to Humboldt, Humboldt to Government, to Belleville, around Parliament Building, to the corner of Menzies and Menzies to Michigan, to Park Road, to Beacon Hill.

The judges of the parade will be as follows: For automobiles, Mrs. Brewster, Mr. H. P. Hodges, Mrs. C. L. Campbell, General Clark, Mr. Laver, Mr. D. Miller; for the horses, John Turner and Bryce Wright; for the bicycles, G. W. Robinson.

Orphan's Treatment.
Through the kindness of the Mildred Peace Play, Princess Theatre, the orphan children will be entered to an outing which will afford them an excellent opportunity of seeing the parade and participating in it themselves. A large tallyho has been secured for them which will be decorated in handsome style, while another car will carry the members of the Princess company.

LEAVES TO TAKE
IMPORTANT POST
Professor Stevenson to Join
Ontario Agriculture
Department
After six years of valuable service to the agriculture of Vancouver Island as Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Sidney, B. C., Professor Stevenson has resigned that post in June to undertake the direction of the Ontario Government's Department of Agriculture, with the title of Secretary and Supervising Director, making his headquarters at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

When Professor Stevenson took over control of the former royal experimental farm in 1915 the undertaking was in its infancy, the clearing of the land under the direction of Samuel Spencer being almost throughout work done towards creating the present splendid farm.

A Liberal Proposal.
While the credit for the establishment of the Sidney Experimental Station belongs to the Hon. Sir John A. Fisher, the honor of winning the approval of the farmers of the Pacific Coast and the confidence of practical horticulturists and fruit growers for the Sidney station belongs exclusively to Professor Stevenson, who reinforced his practical work on the farm with extensive lecturing throughout the Province, so coming into close touch with conditions and getting first hand (Concluded on page 15.)

LESS WHEAT FROM
FIELDS OF INDIA
Ottawa, May 23.—A cablegram received to-day by the Department of Agriculture from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome gives the preliminary estimate of the wheat crop just harvested in India as 252,000,000 bushels, as compared with 274,765,000 bushels last year and a pre-war five-year average of 359,000,000 bushels.

The condition of crops in Western and Central Europe is reported as generally good.

PORCELAIN COINS
FOR GUATEMALA
Meissen, Saxony, May 23.—A series of porcelain money for Guatemala has been ordered by the former royal porcelain works here. If accepted this currency will replace the hard rubber coins now in use in the Central American Republic, where paper money can not be used because of the climatic conditions.

RIVER DRIVER
LOST HIS LIFE
Vernon, B. C., May 23.—James MacCulloch, one of the river drivers on the Shuswap River, about thirty miles east of here, fell into the swift running waters Saturday while breaking a log jam and was drowned. He was unable to swim and was quickly carried down the stream. Search is being made for the body, but it is impossible to locate it as the river is running high at present. MacCulloch was a Scotchman, unmarried, and served four years overseas. He was well known in the district.

USED ELECTRICITY TO KILL HIMSELF
Vancouver, May 23.—Akutaro Hirai snuffed out his life in his shack at Stevenson on Sunday. Laying a blanket on the floor and covering himself with another, he fastened a wire, which he had carefully split for the purpose, and attaching one end to his foot and taking the other in his hand, ran the current through his body, what must have been almost instantaneous effect.

KILLED HIMSELF
Port Haney, B. C., May 23.—The body of William Patterson, a rancher who had been missing from here since Saturday, was found in the river near here Saturday. At an inquest a verdict of suicide was returned. Patterson was fifty-two years of age.

GRAIN INQUIRY STARTED TO-DAY

Commission Holds a Session
in Winnipeg

Hearings to Be Held Along Boundary

Winnipeg, May 23.—(Canadian Press)—The apprehension of the reason for the existence of this commission is a complaint that the producer of the grain crops has not been receiving a just reward for his labor, or at least his fair share of the amount ultimately realized on the sale of his products. "was an ex-parte statement of Mr. Justice J. D. Hyndman, chairman, at the opening session of the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission here to-day.

"The board will take constant care, it is scarcely necessary to say, to add the chairman, or avoid doing injustice to any person, however humble or powerful."

The session was devoted entirely to an examination of facts about the grading of wheat. It is anticipated hearings will be held along the boundary, starting at Regina, Manitoba, Wednesday morning, and ending at Vancouver, B. C., in the United States still in effect, grain growers all along the border dispose of their crops to United States elevators.

Information Asked.
A questionnaire was sent out to private terminal elevators calling for complete information regarding each company, shareholders, officers, owners, charter, capital, dividends, reserves, auditors' reports and the annual revenue from screenings, scalping and overages for the past nine years, and what percentage of the revenue was returned to producers, and how much retained for compensation.

Other Questions.
Another questionnaire sent to country elevators requests similar information on organization, officers, shareholders, capital, dividends, profits, business transacted by each local elevator, overages and shortages, percentage of "street" and "store" grain. Reports during the past season have been circulated on the spread between the "street" price and the "track" price, that is, the difference between the price paid by the wagonload and the carload.

The opportunity will also be afforded to test the claims about results of mingling and profits from overages in the private terminals.

Commission.
The board is composed of Mr. Justice J. D. Hyndman, chairman of the Supreme Court of Alberta; W. D. Staples, for nine years a member of the Grain Commission with headquarters at Fort William; J. H. Haslam, of Regina, who served as chairman of the Saskatchewan Commission on Marketing of grain in 1914; and L. Goldie, of Guelph, Ont., who has been an active miller for years in Ontario.

A CELEBRATION.
Enderby, B. C., May 23.—A big programme of sports has been arranged for Victoria Day by Enderby citizens. The Vernon baseball nine will play the home team. Other events will attract large numbers from nearby towns.

AUSTRALIAN AREAS
NOW WISH TO BREAK
AWAY FROM STATES
London, May 23.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Cable dispatches from Sydney, Australia, report considerable agitation in parts of New South Wales and Victoria, for the severance of certain districts from the present states and the subdivision of the Commonwealth into smaller states. One district, that of Riverina, has definitely expressed a separation from the State of New South Wales.

MORE BUILDING.
Penticton, B. C., May 23.—Building permits for May, it is expected will be fifty per cent greater than for the same period last year.

Disarmament as Subject
For London Conference
London, May 23.—The London Daily News asks whether it would be impossible at the right stage of the coming conference of Empire Prime Ministers for both the United States and Japan "to be actually invited to the council table to discuss every question that visibly arises between them, with a reduction of naval armaments in the immediate foreground. To agree merely on the principle would itself advance the world far along the road to enduring peace."

The paper makes this suggestion in commenting, as other papers also do, on the declaration of General Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa, that he favored a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty, if the United States could be satisfied "that no harm to her interests could follow from its renewal and similar recent utterances of Premier Hughes of Australia.

Reshaping.
"Although the Anglo-Japanese agreement as it stands cannot legitimately be interpreted as in any sense hostile to the United States," The News says, "it should be so reshaped, if it is to continue at all, as to set at rest not merely any reasonable but even any unreasonable anxieties of the United States."

The Daily Telegraph expresses the confident hope that the problem of renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty can be solved in the sense that its future form will satisfy the United States that no jeopardy to her interests will be involved.

Of Value.
The Daily Chronicle declares that "the treaty has been of undoubted value to the Empire in the past and there has been strong arguments for its renewal, but obviously it should be renewed in a form that would harmonize with the wider Anglo-American understanding even if it did prove possible to make it tripartite, with the United States as the new ally."

A dispatch from Cape Town yesterday stated that Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa, had expressed his opinion that the Anglo-Japanese Treaty should be renewed in a form that would harmonize with the wider Anglo-American understanding even if it did prove possible to make it tripartite, with the United States as the new ally.

Members at Ottawa Expect Prorogation On Saturday Next

Reports of Committees Are Anticipated; No Legislation
At This Session Providing For Extradition of Wife
Deserters From U. S.

Ottawa, May 23.—(Canadian Press)—It is expected prorogation will take place on Saturday, May 28, in spite of the fact that the House will not sit to-morrow. It is understood the business of the session will be completed on Friday night.

Ottawa, May 23.—(Canadian Press)—With the end of the session within reaching distance, attention is turning now to the work of the standing and special committees, whose reports are being awaited with more than ordinary interest. In the case of the committees dealing with pensions and Civil Service Act amendments, it is expected the reports will be down within two days. The committee investigating fuel resources and the committee dealing with National Railways will meet again to-morrow morning for the hearing of further evidence. In the case of the former committee it is expected that an interim report will be brought down later in the week and that there will be a request that the committee be allowed to finish its work next session.

Wife Deserters.
Ottawa, May 23.—(Canadian Press)—There will be no legislation at the present session of the Dominion Parliament in regard to the extradition of wife deserters who have taken refuge in the United States. Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, explained to the House of Commons that the message sent by the British Embassy was erroneous and that it had been learned the ratification of the extradition treaty upon this subject by the United States was subject to an amendment which would substantially alter it. Consequently it was not proposed to proceed with legislation this year. Mr. Doherty accordingly withdrew the two bills relating to the treaty which were on the order paper.

TO AID CUTTING
B. C. FIRE LOSS
Stockmen to Be Enlisted in Campaign to Save Forests
Stock Associations throughout British Columbia are to be enlisted in interest and activity this year in cutting down the fire loss to forests and grazing ranges, the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of Lands, announced to-day. The work will be carried out under T. F. Mackenzie, grazing commissioner.

"Last year forest fires were very disastrous and it is the earnest hope of the Forest Service that this year the loss will be much minimized," said Hon. Mr. Pattullo to-day. "The greatest protection in our forests is fire prevention and too much stress cannot be laid upon the advantage of educating the public along this line."

On the other side of the line some of the Stock Associations are taking an especially active interest in the matter, not alone for the protection of the range for stock, in one of the Stock Associations there, all members of the association constitute themselves more or less a vigilance committee for fire prevention and recently a number of resolutions were passed dealing in detail with the whole question and giving instructions to members of the associations.

Hon. Mr. Pattullo added that timber and range lands of the Province are its greatest assets and must be protected to the utmost limit.

TWO KILLED IN
AUTO ACCIDENT
Calgary, May 23.—David Fraser, but known as the Imperial Buffet in Calgary, and another man, identified only as Charlie K., his last name being unknown, were instantly killed and A. J. Lessard, proprietor of the Imperial Buffet, was seriously injured when the latter's car crashed over a bank on the Midnapore Road at 3 o'clock this morning. The car, a McLaughlin roadster, was overturned and the injured man and the two dead bodies were still pinned beneath it when Lessard's groans attracted the attention of Mrs. Hope, driving by in a buggy at 7:40, more than four hours after the accident.

HON. JOHN STOREY COMING TO COAST

Premier of New South Wales
En Route to Orient

Hon. John Storey, Premier of New South Wales, accompanied by Mrs. Storey, Miss Storey and C. H. Hay, Under Secretary of the Premier's Department, is due on the Coast this week to sail on the Empress of Russia for the Orient.

Mr. Storey has had a great welcome in London, where he was engaged in business for some time.

Arrangements have been made so that Mr. Storey will have talks with Premier Hara and a number of prominent Japanese authorities while in Japan. After visiting the Orphan Asylum as well as business men, and steps will then be discussed for closer friendship between Australia and Japan. After visiting the Orphan Asylum at that country Mr. and Mrs. Storey and others will leave Kobe for Sydney on the steamer Eastern of the Eastern and Australian line on June 13.

MRS. MADGE SAWYER HURT IN VANCOUVER

In Auto Smash; A Figure in Seattle

Vancouver, May 23.—Police officers confirm the report that one of the women injured in an auto accident here early Saturday morning is Mrs. Madge Anna Sawyer, recently freed in Seattle at her second trial on a charge of murdering her husband last year. Following the accident she gave her name as Miss Anna Hewitt. She was discharged from the hospital Saturday night, her injuries consisting of cuts and abrasions.

Near Death.
Miss Gertrude Garland, one of those injured at the same time as Mrs. Sawyer, is reported this morning as being in a serious condition, and little hope is held for her recovery. She was employed at the Orpheum Theatre here as assistant treasurer.

W. P. Grant, a local dredging contractor, who was in charge of the car, is being held on bail on a charge of being drunk while in charge of an automobile.

MORE MEMBERS
FOR RED CROSS
Toronto, May 23.—A cable message has been received from the Prince of Wales at the national headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross Society through the League of Red Cross Societies, endorsing the campaign to increase the membership of the Red Cross Societies of the world and expressing the hope that the campaign would be a success. The effort which the League of Red Cross Societies is making to serve humanity in time of peace has "my heartiest approval," says the Prince in his message.

TOO MUCH GOLD.

New York May 23.—Deluged by gold shipments amounting to more than $50,000,000 since April 1, the Government assay offices in Wall Street have become so clogged with the precious metal that approximately half of it has been transferred to Philadelphia to relieve the congestion there.

MAN WHO WAS ILL WAS MURDERED

Another Crime in Ireland; A Ship Incident

Cork, May 23.—William Bourke, who was in failing health, was shot dead yesterday outside his father's house in Ballyhooley, County Cork, after being challenged by unknown persons.

The members of the crew of the Belgian steamship, Hoogvliet, when resting on the quay side yesterday, were fired on from the direction of Parnell Bridge. A fireman of the vessel had his right leg shattered, and it was amputated later in a military hospital.

The other members of the crew were not injured.

The Hoogvliet arrived here Saturday with coal for this city.

Sinn Féin Statement.

Belfast, May 23.—The Publicity Department of the group calling themselves the "Irish Republican Parliament" has issued a statement declaring unfounded reports originating in Belfast that Eamon de Valera and Premier Lloyd George are in direct negotiation for a settlement of the Irish situation.

"We long have known of the intention to mislead the electors on polling day by spreading such reports when it is too late for their contradiction," says the statement. "We trust the electors of the six counties will be awake to the trick and will not be imposed upon by a ruse of this kind."

Pope's Letter.

Dublin, May 23.—The letter of Pope Benedict to Cardinal Logue Saturday, appealing to both the Irish and English to abandon violence and proposing that the Irish question be settled by a body selected by the whole Irish nation, was read at Mass in all the Roman Catholic churches throughout Ireland yesterday morning.

Took Telescopes.

Dublin, May 23.—Sinn Féiners commandeered a motor car yesterday and raided optical establishments, taking telescopes and flash lamps.

CROP PROMISE IN EDMONTON AREA

Edmonton, May 23.—A wonderful advance in the crop situation has been shown in the Edmonton district during the past two weeks, and more particularly during the past week. There had been splendid progress in getting the seed sown this year, and with plenty of moisture the seed was germinated and ready to shoot forth with the first warm weather. Wheat that was already up has grown three or four inches and the wheat over the district generally is up from two to six inches. Generally speaking, the crop season is considerably earlier than last year.

EIGHTEENTH BABY IN U. S. FAMILY

Ironwood, Mich., May 23.—When a physician went to a home here in response to a call he found John Mattson, pondering over a list of names. He was looking for a name for the eighteenth baby in his family, a girl. Fifteen of the children are living. The mother is forty-four and the father forty-six.

CANDIDATES.

Regina, May 23.—Premier Martin and Colonel J. A. Cross, D.S.O., were nominated for the two Regina city seats at a convention of provincial Government supporters Saturday night.

Colonel Cross was one of the three soldier members of the last House.

Prince Albert, Sask., May 23.—Charles Maymont, M.P.P., was the unanimous choice of the Liberal convention held here Saturday to select a candidate for the provincial election. A resolution in favor of the Martin Government and pledging its support was carried.

MORE LIGHT ON VENIOT LETTERS

St. John Broker Was Letter
Writer

St. John, N.B., May 23.—J. W. V. Veniot, an insurance broker of this city, gave to the press yesterday a letter which throws light upon the controversy in the House of Commons last week. Mr. Veniot takes the responsibility for writing to Premier Meighen in regard to finding a place in the Meighen Cabinet for a representative of the Acadians, and suggested Hon. P. J. Veniot. He did it on his own initiative, and was not requested to do so by Premier Meighen or anybody else connected with the Government at Ottawa.

THUG WAS SHOT AND DIED ON TRAIN

Port William, Ont., May 23.—Steve Severuk, one of the bandits who attempted to hold up Paymaster Mayes of the Hydro-Electric at Cameron Falls on Saturday afternoon and was shot through the abdomen by Constable Eady, died on the train Sunday morning as he was being brought to the hospital in Port Arthur.

Constable Eady, who is suffering from three bullet wounds, one in the neck and breast, is now in the hospital, and the authorities believe he will recover.

EMPIRE PEACE CABINET URGED

J. W. Lowther Addressed Parliamentarians of Canada

Dominion Cabinet Ministers in London

Ottawa, May 23.—(Canadian Press) The advantage of the different nations within the Empire of continued interchange of views between the statesmen of those nations and the importance of developing the best within the Empire for the good of the world, was stressed in an address delivered by Rt. Hon. J. W. Lowther, former Speaker of the United Kingdom House of Commons, to the members of the Commons and Senate at a dinner given in his honor by the Canadian branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association Saturday evening.

The British Empire Parliamentary Association, as a clearing house for members of the various parliaments within the Empire could secure an interchange of views and ideas for the betterment of Empire conditions also was commended by Mr. Lowther and the Canadian parliamentarians who spoke.

Nations.

The war, said Mr. Lowther, had brought about changes within the Empire. It had brought to various Dominions the status of nations, signing the Treaty of Versailles and joining the League of Nations separately and giving separate ratification to these.

The Empire now had six votes in the League of Nations. This in itself was an evidence of its importance in world affairs.

The question was whether these six votes were all to be cast the same way on questions which arose or whether the world would be treated to the spectacle of the nations of the British Empire being unable to agree among themselves on questions coming up in the League.

Links.

The constitutional links which bound the Empire together were the Crown, the Privy Council as the final court of appeal, and the occasional conference of the Prime Ministers from the different parts of the Empire. These were the only constitutional links. There was also the community of interest, to hold the Empire together, and the same ideas of self-government, justice and liberty. There had been old ideas of an imperial federation and an imperial parliament, but these were not practicable. The United Kingdom electors would not be satisfied to let the Dominion control policies nor would the peoples of the Dominions be satisfied to have their affairs directed by such a parliament. Disaster would follow such an experiment.

United Action.

By united action, however, the Empire could carry much greater weight in world affairs than by acting separately. Mr. Lowther said he believed there had been in some of the Dominions a fear of "Downing Street" control. This was wholly a mistaken idea. Before the war there had been need of an establishment which would deal with the Empire crisis. There had been much talk, but no action. Then the war had brought about the calling in of the Dominion Prime Ministers and the formation of the Imperial War Cabinet. The deliberations of that body had resulted in unified action toward the winning of the war by all parts of the Empire.

Peace Cabinet.

Mr. Lowther thought the same idea could be carried out now, with the name changed to the Imperial Peace Cabinet. Such a body could deal intelligently with problems as they arose, and in the interests of the whole Empire.

Mr. Lowther also suggested that it might be possible for each Dominion to have a member of its Cabinet in London, who could be called into the meetings of the Cabinet or Great Britain. In the latter address, he might be arranged by giving the Canadian High Commissioner wider powers. The solution, he said, must come from the Dominions themselves.

London Times.

London, May 23.—(Canadian Association Press)—The Times makes of the visit to Canada of Rt. Hon. J. W. Lowther, former Speaker of the British House of Commons, which it describes as a visit of more than ordinary importance, the occasion for a further long editorial on Dominion relations and future Empire policy.

The paper is especially concerned to dispel the misgivings of the Dominions respecting their international position and declares that it dressed a joint assembly of members of the House of Commons and the House of Lords on the aims of the Labor Party in New South Wales, whose chief he is. In this address, he stated that the Labor Party place reliance upon the ballot for the settlement of all public issues, and was opposed to strikes.

The £5,000,000 loan is required chiefly to establish returned soldiers on the land.

"P.R." System.

With reference to proportional representation, which operates in New South Wales, Mr. Storey said it worked well, except that it was somewhat clumsy at first and required experience to develop it into a smooth-running system.

CHANGES MADE IN SALES TAX PLAN

Tax on Liquor Sold to the Provinces

Ottawa, May 23.—The original budget resolution provided for an excise duty of 3 per cent on liquor. Under the Government amendment adopted by the Commons in committee on Saturday the tax will be 2 per cent on liquor sold and delivered by Canadian manufacturers and 3 per cent on imported liquor.

The list of exemptions from the sales tax was increased. It now includes bran, shorts, oil cake, meal and grain for cattle and poultry food.

Liquor.

Another change in the resolution makes clear that the new taxation on spirits applies to sales to the provinces.

Numerous suggestions were made. South of the border, suggested a turnover tax; there were plans for protection of the dairy industry; J. E. Armstrong, East Lambton, advocated a sales tax on the raw materials used in the manufacture of oleomargarine, and John Harold, Brant, pressed the case of the binder twine manufacturers.

After some discussion, Sir Henry Drayton agreed that binder twine should be exempted and announced that an Order-in-Council would be passed to this effect, making the exemption retroactive.

Bill.

With the amendments indicated, the sales tax resolution was then carried and a bill in conformity therewith introduced and given first reading.

A resolution was passed making permissible the manufacture, importation and sale of oleomargarine without any time limit being fixed.

Bills Passed.

The bills amending the Juvenile Delinquents' Act, the Canada Evidence Act, the Statistics Act and the Bankruptcy Act were given third reading.

The bills amending the Dominion Lands Act and the Northwest Territories Act were given second reading. The latter bill provides for more assistance in the administration of the Northwest Territories.

The Animal Contagious Disease Act and the Prison Reformatories Act passed through committee.

DISTRESS IN THE THROAT CAUSED GREAT ANXIETY

Not an uncommon experience, was that of Mrs. H. S. Wilmet of Shute, N. S. "Many remedies failed, still splendid results were found in 'Catarhazone.' I have been a most dreadful sufferer from Bronchial trouble and Catarrh. On damp days, I would hawk and suffer great distress in my throat. I used all kinds of medicines but didn't get permanent relief till I used Catarhazone. It strengthened my throat, stopped my cough, and made me well." LADY BANCROFT
DIED IN ENGLAND

London, May 23.—Lady Bancroft, noted actress and author, died yesterday at Folkestone.

Lady Bancroft, whose maiden name was Marie Effie Wilton, was married to Sir Squire Bancroft in 1857. She left her family, which was one of the oldest in Gloucestershire, very early in life to become an actress, playing child parts. She appeared on the stage after her marriage to Sir Squire, who was for twenty years manager of the old Prince of Wales and Haymarket theatres, during which a modern revival was started. The noted couple retired in 1883. Lady Bancroft was the author of several books.

103 YEARS OLD.

Eastford, Conn., May 23.—Mrs. Sarah Rosworth Bradley has just observed her 103rd birthday at her home here. Among her visitors was Donald Clark, a great grandson, who has two great grandmothers, two grandmothers and two granddaughters. Mrs. Bradley is in excellent health.

COMMUNITY SING TO TAKE PLACE TO-NIGHT

Public to Join in Popular Programme at Parliament Buildings

The ideal weather should draw all Victoria to the Parliament Buildings this evening where a community sing will be held in connection with the Broom Festival celebration. The programme will commence at 8 o'clock promptly. Frank J. Sehl will conduct and Mrs. C. C. A. Wain will be the accompanist, the Salvation Army band assisting in the choruses. A programme of popular appeal, including well-known airs, patriotic songs and appropriate hymns has been prepared, and as copies of the words of the various numbers will be distributed among the public, it is hoped and expected that everyone present will join in the singing. The Hallelujah Chorus will be a feature and in this connection, the committee in charge of the arrangements wishes to emphasize the fact that all those who have sung in the Hallelujah Chorus are requested to take part to-night, and also to take their copy of the chorus with them.

How Worthless Desert
Has Become the Chief
World Source of Radium

From a Barren Stretch in Colorado Comes the Gift Which Holds Out the Chief Hope to Distressed Humanity.

By Arthur Chapman, of The New York Tribune.

When Mme. Curie arrived in the United States a week ago she was presented with radium valued at $100,000 from the women of the country.

Out in the grim, broken, sage-covered desert where southern Colorado and Utah meet, there is produced the carnotite ore from which most of the world's supply of radium is recovered. Valuable mines have been located in arid gulches that were worthless even for cattle grazing. Concentrating mills have been erected and little mining settlements have grown up where not even the careless "dry farmer" planted his homesteads a few years ago. Buried under the desert are radium-bearing concentrates which pick their way along rough trails to the dusty highways that reach out into the not less dusty desert. Their burdens are shifted to ore wagons—one wagon and a trailer to a six-horse team usually—and there is much rattling of tires and cracking of whips and flinging of oaths as the teams jolt their way to the nearest railway station. Fifty or seventy-five miles distant.

Big Industries Profit
The uranium content of the carnotite ore is valuable. Uranium is used in the manufacture of high grade dyes and also in steel making. Its possibilities, according to experts, are just being understood. Rich vanadium mines are found in southwestern Colorado, and tungsten has been discovered there in considerable quantities. In fact, the rare metal resources of the state have been only slightly developed. Metals are now being found and mined with profit which meant absolutely nothing to the prospectors and miners of early days, who were attracted to the West by the lure of the gold and silver alone. Now one meets prospectors in the field who have made a study of rare metals and who talk in terms that would have been Greek to the old-time gold hunter.

The Paradox valley itself was developed solely as a fruit country. For years it was advertised as one of the best fruit valleys in the Far West. Its sheltered location in the mountains seemed to make it immune to early and late frosts, and apples, in particular, were successfully raised. But the orchardists who came to Paradox valley to specialize in apples were among the first on the ground when the carnotite discoveries were made, and some of them who managed to hold their claims during the war have gained more wealth through radium than they ever could have made by their orchards.

The radium prospector finds his profit in locating a carnotite claim and selling out to some one with capital, as it is estimated that one should have a holding of at least twenty-four claims before attempting production. In the early days of the industry prospecting was generally done in the gulches and searching for "bug holes." Carnotite is found in light colored sandstone, and it often crops out in canyons and gulches. Being so brightly colored it is readily distinguishable. The layers are of varying thicknesses. Sometimes a ledge that looks promising will yield little carnotite, and sometimes faint indications will lead to heavy deposits. On one claim mined by government experts for the National Radium Institute several tons of high grade carnotite were found in a soft claylike mass of black vanadium ore.

Better Method Evolved
The Bureau of Mines called attention to the need of some better and more economical process for securing the radium content from the carnotite ores of southwestern Colorado and southeastern Utah. In the feverish hunt for high grade ore much low grade carnotite of considerable value was being wasted. There was much waste at the mines—something which seemed doubly deplorable in view of the apparent limitation of the production. Those fears have been proved groundless by recent discoveries which were hitherto undreamed of. At first it was prophesied that the carnotite fields would not yield more than a thousand tons of carnotite which would assay two per cent. uranium oxide and four per cent. vanadium oxide. As a matter of fact, since 1913 there has been mined more than 40,000 tons from the Paradox field of carnotite ore assaying even higher than the figures mentioned. Yet it is said on the authority of one of the companies now operating in the southwestern Colorado field that not over one per cent. of the carnotite ore of that region has been exhausted. More hauling carnotite from the Paradox field to the railroad. One company has spent $4,000,000 in this field, and another company has spent over $1,000,000 in the last few years. Hundreds of miners and teamsters are employed, and that disappearing type, the prospector, has been revived and new discoveries are constantly being made in the proved area which even now extends well over the state line into Utah.

Not Poor Man's Game
In the first years of carnotite mining crude methods were employed, as the business was new and uncertain. Now one finds diamond drills, compressors, rock machines and mechanical hoists. Freighters are paid fifty cents a ton per mile for outgoing freight, on concentrates shipped to the railroad—which is said to be the highest freight rate paid in the United States. Strictly speaking, carnotite mining is not a "poor man's game." Even after one has secured his rights with a diamond drill it may be necessary to remove from twenty to thirty tons of rock to get one ton of mill ore. Also it is a costly business. A body of ore in drilling. Consequently much capital is required, and that is the reason why most of the holdings in the district are drifting into the hands of one or two large concerns.

Photographic Plate Tests
In prospecting for carnotite ore, a good idea of the radium content can be obtained by use of photographic plates. By putting the ore in contact with a plate, outside the slide holder, and leaving it there several hours, fog will be discernible on the plate in proportion to the radium content of the ore.

Scientific instruments have been developed for ascertaining the radium content more accurately, but the photographic record proves practical when the other is not available. Wonders have been accomplished in treating the ore for reduction purposes. It was found that much of the radium content was escaping in dust in the course of reducing the ore. Dust-proof machinery was devised and now such leakage is stopped.

The aim of the prospector, of course, is to find a deposit containing the ultimate of radium content. A claim which yields much high grade ore is equivalent to a fortune. The other day, in Montrose, the county seat of Montrose County, in which the richest carnotite claims are found, a carload of high grade ore brought $20,000 after spirited bidding by speculators. It was figured that the individual who bought the car of ore would have considerable margin of profit when his purchase was marketed.

TOMMIES TO SILESIA.

Official French sentiment has inclined to the view that the presence of British troops in Silesia, or even the decision to send a reasonably large detachment, would have the effect of discouraging the insurgent leader from further excesses and serve as a gentle reminder to official Poland that the Upper Silesian mess must be cleared up at once. There may be some truth in the suggestion. At the least it is a tribute to the influence of Great Britain in Europe just as the British ultimatum to Berlin in 1914 completely weighted the Allied balance against the Central Powers. But it is very doubtful whether the decision of Great Britain to take an active military part at this stage is good business for Europe, for herself, or for France in particular. Mr. Lloyd George has expressed himself in favor of permitting Germany to admonish the insurgents who are placing her nationals in danger. France totally disagrees with any such a policy and seems to take the stand that if there is fighting to be done on the Continent she is ready to spring at any moment. To her there is no such a thing as a Germany quelling a disturbance. She conceives one Germany and one Germany only—Germany under arms with bayonets pointing towards Paris. And just how far she is prepared to substitute Napoleonism for Hohenzollernism will depend upon the amount of encouragement her policies obtain from Great Britain. It goes without saying that John Bull cannot afford to send troops to Silesia at the expense of industrial action at home. Today's decision—if it has to be translated into action—may bring troubles in its wake. At least the latest development is a concession to France.

THAT COMMISSION.

Judging by the personnel of the Royal Commission to investigate the British embargo on Canadian cattle this country may rest assured of an impartial finding. With such men as Lord Asquith—possibly the keenest examiner of disputes in the British Empire—and Lord Finlay, together with Sir Algernon Firth, Sir Harry Peat and Sir Arthur Shipley, the whole subject will be treated to a real inquiry. The terms of the Commission are as follows:

"To inquire into the admission into the United Kingdom of livestock for purposes other than immediate slaughter at the ports, whether such action would increase and cheapen the meat supply of the country, and if so, to what extent, and whether it is advisable, having regard to the necessity of protecting livestock bred in the country from the introduction of disease, and of restoring their markets after the losses to which they were subjected during the war."

It is fortunate that the Commission will have no occasion to deal with the question of the health of Canadian cattle. That old shibboleth went to the wall in an admission by Lord Lee—the former Minister of Agriculture—as soon as the embargo bobbed up in the shape of an election issue at Dudley. The significance of the whole question lies in its economic and protectionist aspects.

HIS STAR STILL SHINES.

On more than one occasion it has been predicted that the star of Mr. Lloyd George was about to set. Some of his more energetic critics have pronounced it completely out of sight. But on every occasion so far he has disappointed them by positively refusing to stay set. And the fact that Mr. James Henry Thomas has told the people of the City of Washington that the British Prime Minister and his Government will collapse will have nothing particular to do with the little Welshman's ultimate eclipse. The head of the National Union of Railwaymen who is now in the United States holidaymaking could offer no reasons for his prediction. His position would not permit him to embellish his plain prophecy of collapse.

Mr. Lloyd George may not be perfect. Better men than those who compose his Government may be sitting on the private benches to the right and to the left of the Speaker. But Mr. James Henry Thomas—a man of good judgment and sound sense—and that small band of critics which borrows its dislike of the Prime Minister from the periodical ebullitions that emanate from Printing House Square will be forced to confess that Mr. Lloyd George is the one remaining first minister of all the Allied countries to come through the tremendous ordeal imposed upon the statesmen of the world by the war without either impairing his popularity with the masses, or without anything very serious in the form of political wounds. But he is not like the brook. Voluntary or compulsory respite will be his sooner or later. In the meantime the people of Great Britain are not using the ballot box in a manner that suggests the early collapse which Mr. Thomas predicts.

PECULIAR ARGUMENTS.

Our morning contemporary is of the opinion that ten years from now will be plenty early enough to discuss Victoria's need for more technical training facilities. And it suggests that it is looking at the matter "in the dual interests of the children and their parents" because it believes "it is dangerous, morally, mentally, and in the matter of character development, to over-emphasize technical studies in a public school system."

In other words the morning paper is quite satisfied with things as they are in spite of its own admission that economic conditions in British Columbia "are hot as they should be." It would wait and see what other decade would bring forth before it would turn a hand to hasten the day when economic conditions in this Province might be more in harmony with what they ought to be at the present time if there were sufficient brains and initiative on hand to get in and dig out its untold wealth.

How is it possible to guard the "dual interests" of the child and the parent if the offspring is to be denied a course of training from whose application he should win parental pride and place himself in a position to be of comfort to his mother and father because an inefficient system of training in their day prevented them from making provision for themselves? As we have pointed out before British Columbia cannot afford to lag behind in the matter of technical education.

Nobody need fear that character development would suffer by giving the youth a chance to make his way in the world. Limit his opportunities and trouble will follow. He does not like to be told that other boys are "smarter" than he is. Nor is it a compliment to the average parent to discount his and her ability to train up the child in the way in which he should go.

GERMANY NOSING IN.

According to the Ministry of Liberated Regions Germany will soon commence the delivery of twenty-five thousand wooden houses to be erected in the devastated zone of Northern France. The dwellings in question will be somewhat similar to the portable houses seen in Canadian Summer resort camp colonies; but they will be built more solidly.

There is something particularly ironical in this Paris announcement and its relation to British Columbia. For it means that the defeated nation will be quick to seize upon the possibilities ahead of the wooden house in Europe. And very probably grab that tremendous business to which Agent-General Wade directed the attention of this Province more than twelve months ago. If Germany gets a foothold in Great Britain we may expect her to take the portable house business of Mesopotamia, Palestine, and eventually that of the Antipodes.

Would it not be worth while for this Province to look into the matter again? Millions of tons of shipping are virtually idle at the present time. This and gradually falling ocean freight rates should be the combination incentive to local enterprise.

IGNORE HIM.

If the various Protestant and loyalty Associations of Australia are permitted to have their way Archbishop Mannix will not be allowed to enter any part in the Southern Commonwealth unless he is prepared to take the oath of allegiance. But it is to be hoped that the Australian Government will not play into the hands of this anti-British prelate by dignifying him with a second course of cheap martyrdom and all the attendant publicity. And what is the use of an oath of allegiance taken under compulsion? Archbishop Mannix is heart and soul in the Sinn Fein cause and if he were to go through the ceremony ten times a day he would be just as much a Sinn Feiner as ever he was. If the Australian Government is wise in its day and generation it will ignore the homecoming completely. Any other course would involve that widespread attention and publicity which is seventy-five per cent. of the Sinn Fein stock in trade. What Archbishop Mannix may say or do in Australia will neither aggravate nor ameliorate the situation in Ireland.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mr. Frank Hodges, leader of the Derbyshire miners and general secretary of the Federation, says that everybody wants to find a way out of the difficulty. If the men and the owners would hold a continuous conference instead of meeting and postponing for days at a time some solution might be found.

According to Madam Ozaki, the wife of the leader against militarism in Japan, the people of the Island Kingdom have shown themselves in favor of the restriction of armaments. Unfortunately, however, the reply of the Japanese Government to the Secretariat of the League of Nations gives the official and not the popular verdict against disarmament at this stage. All of which shows the need for still larger educational campaigns.

OTHER PAPERS' VIEWS.

PREMATURE
(The Boston Transcript)
The reluctance of some of our restaurant proprietors to cut down their prices brings to mind the story of a certain English profiteer. He had erected a gray, medieval pile on a mountain peak, and as he was approaching it with a friend he said: "I don't know what to call my place. What name would you advise?" The friend stood still and surveyed the structure. "It looks like one of those Scotch castles in the Highlands," he remarked. "Why not call it Dunrobin?" "Dunrobin? Dunrobin? Yes, that's a good name," said the profiteer. "Only, you see, I have no intention of retiring yet."

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Mercury and the Sun rule strongly for good to-day, according to astrology. Mars is adverse late in the evening to a certain English profiteer. He had erected a gray, medieval pile on a mountain peak, and as he was approaching it with a friend he said: "I don't know what to call my place. What name would you advise?" The friend stood still and surveyed the structure. "It looks like one of those Scotch castles in the Highlands," he remarked. "Why not call it Dunrobin?" "Dunrobin? Dunrobin? Yes, that's a good name," said the profiteer. "Only, you see, I have no intention of retiring yet."

Letters written to-day should be exceedingly lucky, and those addressed to relatives or other persons from whom money is expected should be very profitable. Ministers should benefit to-day, since there is believed to be more than usual power in both the written and the spoken word.

Letters that bring cures to men who carry Government responsibilities again are fore-shadowed. Marriage and configuration both men and women who exercise authority should benefit greatly, for they will gain power.

The total eclipse of the moon which took place April 22 is held to have influenced conditions so that electric storms will be more severe than usual and more frequent during the Summer. Serious earthquakes—and volcanic eruptions are indicated for the 62nd degree east longitude, the 118th degree west longitude and the 59th degree west longitude.

South Africa is to experience grave troubles during the Summer owing to the conjunction of the Sun and the Moon in the country's ruling sign. Again the severe weather for the United States the menace of war, although Mercury's aspect may prevent actual conflict.

Treaty discussions will assume a grave tone at this time and American diplomats will be put to the test, astrologers prophesy.

The position of Venus seems to promise that the younger generation will be especially protected by the stars during the coming Summer.

Many child welfare efforts will be pushed at this time and the value of health to the nation will be constantly stressed.

Persons whose birthdate it is should attend strictly to business during the year, which may be made extremely profitable.

Children born on this day may be quick tempered and impatient, but these subjects of Gemini usually are extremely fortunate.

EDUCATION.

To the Editor.—"Every child that is delinquent in body, education or character is a charge upon the community as a whole and a menace to the community itself. The children are the army with which we must march to progress," says Herbert Hoover.

"Every educationist, every student of the history of education, knows that education is not dependent on the erection of expensive buildings. Pupils there are in abundance and their potential powers are running to waste. The army of children and young persons who are thrown on the market untrained and unfit for the struggle of life is increasing at the rate of 100,000 a month. Such a policy is not economy. It is waste of a kind that it is impossible to understand." Editorial in the Educational Supplement of The London Times, April 28, 1921.

The aim of education is to train our boys and girls for citizenship. We are coming to recognize that the highest type of citizenship can only be produced by training along all four sides of the individual's life, viz., physical, intellectual, spiritual and social or service.

Any training which helps the child to develop along these lines should be adequately provided and utilized.

There is a danger that those who have been trained in the so-called culture schools will fail to recognize the character value of the so-called "frills" such as Manual Training, Domestic Science, School Gardening, Household Economics, Technical Education, etc.

Judging from recent editorials in one of our daily papers and statements one hears on the street, it would seem that considerable ignorance prevails as to what these subjects are intended to supply in our educational system.

It is not to turn out carpenters, engineers, dressmakers, etc., that these courses are given, but to train the pupils in neatness, accuracy, initiative, adaptability, self-confidence, etc. They also serve admirably to maintain the child's interest in the cultural subjects by giving him something he can do for himself. One has only to visit the schools to see how keen the boys are in their manual training and technical work and the girls, in their domestic science, and the pride they take in making things themselves.

Sturdy health and the boys are in their manual training and technical work and the girls, in their domestic science, and the pride they take in making things themselves. The Colonel says: "Dangerous morally and mentally in character development." One fails to see how any sane person could for a moment hold such a viewpoint. Again, the above paper is fearful lest we are going to supplant what it terms "the larger issues of education" with technical education. Let us not forget that manual training and technical training are only intended to supplement the so-called cultural subjects. They are not a separate and distinct system.

One of the things that helped our Canadian boys in the Great War was their adaptability, initiative and self-confidence, and where did they learn these if not in the schools where manual and technical training were a part of the curriculum.

An effort is being made to focus the attention of the public on technical education. Part of the money being asked for in the by-laws for school playgrounds. Here, again, many people fail to recognize the value of play in character-building. The wise parent to-day is determined that his child shall have these advantages that help to develop all round citizenship. If we fail to provide them in our Victoria schools, people will go elsewhere. Vancouver, New Westminster and the cities of Washington will grow at our expense.

The Colonist has made a statement entirely erroneous and calculated to mislead the public when it says there is "ample equipment in the schools at the present time to teach all the boys and girls who should be taking these subjects." Citizens who spend $9,000 per week and $468,000 a year at the theatres for amusement, surely ought to be willing to provide adequate facilities for training our six thousand boys and girls for citizenship.

M. RAYNOR, Chairman, Board of School Trustees, Victoria, B. C., May 23, 1921.

THE STRAWBERRY ROOT WEEVIL

By W. DOWNER, Dominion Entomological Laboratory.

An article appeared in The Times on May 19 dealing with the strawberry industry in particular connection with the control of the weevil pest. The impression was then given on the authority of leading growers that the Gordon Head district that the barriers in use have not been a complete success.

The statement was made that the Dominion Department of Agriculture had discarded the type of barrier in which tanglefoot is used, but this is not the case. The facts are as follows:

In 1919 the Dominion Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with the Dominion Entomological Branch, leased six acres of land at Gordon Head with a view to conducting experiments in strawberry culture and weevil control. It was determined to try out a barrier to keep the weevils out of the plantations, using for this purpose a sticky band of tanglefoot spread on a low fence of lumber.

Unfortunately the tanglefoot for this purpose did not come to hand until the migration of weevils from their quarters had taken place and the young plantation set out had been badly infested. The fence was erected, but it was realized early in the experiment that it was too late to save the plantation. Accordingly, the following season a fresh start was made and the fence with a tanglefoot band was erected early in the season before the weevils got on the move around the setting of plants in plot No. 2.

Proved Effective
The tanglefoot was not of very good quality. But, notwithstanding this, it was effective in keeping the weevils out. Extensive searches were made by the writer and his assistants during the season and a few weevils were found in one corner that had apparently gained access to the field through holes or where the tanglefoot had been allowed to get dusty, but was so small in number that no difference to the crop is anticipated. Indeed examinations this Spring have failed to reveal the presence of any grubs whatever. Tanglefoot barriers, however, only repel and do not destroy weevils, and moreover, the sticky band must be kept in good condition and free from dust or the weevils will cross it.

Used Crude Oil

In the Summer of last year Mr. Vantreigh conceived the idea of erecting a barrier of heavy lumber with a groove cut in the upper edge which was filled with crude oil. Crude oil has been used as a repellent in former experiments years ago, but not in a trough. The writer is responsible for the idea that troughs be used and fastened to the side of the barrier, but Mr. Vantreigh's invention is a great improvement on this, in that the trough and the fence are one and therefore more likely to be weevil tight and more readily erected.

Where a tanglefoot barrier of inch boards is already in place troughs can be fastened to the sides and we are experimenting with these this season, using both wooden and tin troughs. The latter seem satisfactory, though somewhat expensive, as they are flexible and adapt themselves to the inequalities of the wood, thus preventing cracks. It is apparent, of course, that such barriers can only be used on level or nearly level land. If the ground has much slope our present experience is that tanglefoot is still the most satisfactory barrier for such situations.

Field Experience

Progress with these experiments is necessarily slow because the devices must be tried out under field conditions, laboratory experiments being of little value in such a case. We have learned much, however, since we began. A negative result in an experiment is often as valuable as a positive one. We have learned, for instance, that overwintering weevils can do as much harm to a crop as those emerging in the Summer and therefore it is essential to get the fences up early in the year.

By degrees we expect both to improve the efficiency of the barriers and to reduce their cost. As to the latter it should be remembered that after the first outlay the annual expense will be limited to fresh supplies of either tanglefoot or oil, for the lumber will last a considerable time if it is dry when used and tarred or painted before being put in the ground. By co-operative purchasing it should be possible to get the materials at a lower rate than we have had to pay hitherto.

Matter of Judgment

As to the necessity for erecting these barriers, that is a matter for the grower's individual judgment. If he has a badly infested field adjoining his own or expects weevils to get in from a certain quarter it will certainly pay him to put one up. On new land where there are no other plantations near it may be unnecessary for him to go to the expense.

In conclusion we would say that more general attention to crop rotation combined with devices for preventing the incursions of weevils will go far to minimize the danger from attack. As the weevil is a native insect and very difficult to eradicate, but when its habits and the methods of controlling it are better understood by the growers its menace to the strawberry industry will be largely removed.

The New Laws on teeth cleaning—five of them

Dental science has adopted new laws on teeth cleaning. They mean whiter, cleaner, safer teeth to those who follow them.

Millions employ these new methods, largely by dental advice. Now this ten-day test is offered to show every home the results.

1—Fight the film

The first law is to fight film—that viscous coat you feel. It dims the teeth and causes most tooth troubles.

Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Old ways of brushing do not end it. So few have escaped some form of film attack.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and

MAKES PRESENTATION

A dance was given by the Ladies' Aid of the Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay, on Thursday evening, at which a large number of the residents of the district attended. Splendid dance music for the affair was provided by Miss Chatham of Victoria, which greatly added to the success of the function.

Mrs. Storey, the president of the Guild, presented Miss Wilkinson with a basket of flowers and a cheque, on behalf of the members of the organization. Miss Wilkinson, who has so acceptably officiated as organist in the past, is retiring from her duties. In a few well-chosen words she thanked the Guild for their lovely gifts, and stated she had enjoyed her work very much.

A delicious supper was served during the proceedings, and the happy affair came to an end at one o'clock. The committee, which was in charge of the supper arrangements was composed of Mrs. Layward, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Allen Downey and Miss Gyonne.

Exhibition of Dancing.—A selected few of the pupils of Mademoiselle Charlebois will give an exhibition of dancing at the Little Theatre, Oak Bay, on the evenings of Friday and Saturday, May 27 and 28.

Social Personal

An engagement of far-reaching interest has been announced in Vernon between Miss Isabel Marjoribanks, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. A. Coutts Marjoribanks, of Vernon, and niece of Lady Abernethy, and Capt. Surtees, of Kelowna. Both families are widely known, and the wedding, which is to take place very shortly in Vernon, is to be a brilliant social event. Miss Marjoribanks is a charming young girl, scarcely out of her teens, and Capt. Surtees is one of the best known fruit ranchers in the Okanagan Valley. He served with distinction in the war. The Marjoribanks family are frequent visitors to the coast, and spend much time in Victoria.

R. H. Wright, J. A. Wood and Mrs. Wood, Mrs. E. J. Robinson, Mrs. Askey, Mrs. G. Rowley, Mrs. J. Lewis, Mr. Lewis, W. Allen and Mrs. Allen, John Wickham, Mrs. Worthington and family, Miss M. B. Patterson, Mrs. S. Lindsay, Mrs. J. Hillis, Misses O. and B. McGray, Jas. Roycroft, Ernest Dennis and Mrs. Dennis, B. Christen, J. Warwick, H. E. Goulbourne, G. Knowles, Mrs. Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Moore, F. H. White and Mrs. White, of Vancouver, are guests of the Dominion Hotel.

G. F. Evans, of Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Panquest, of Tacoma; Mrs. A. J. Goodbar, of Covington, Ky.; Mrs. S. Askey, of Lebanon, Tenn.; Mrs. T. W. Read and Miss Nellie Read, of Oakland, Cal.; Miss C. Eingham and Mrs. C. V. Caesar, of Montreal; Wm. Sharpe, of Winnipeg, and Miss Alice K. Merritt, of Bristol, Eng., are guests at the Strathcona Hotel.

The Misses Jean and Kathleen McCabe, of Toronto, who are now visiting Miss Muriel Stewart in Vancouver after spending the past few months in Victoria as the guests of their aunt, Mrs. McCabe, Superior Street, were entertained at the tea hour on Saturday at the home of Mrs. S. Gontzburger. The Misses Esther and Leah Robinson were the hostesses.

Mrs. Innis Noad and Miss Innis Noad, of Dunbar; Mrs. J. H. Moore, of Sidney; E. F. Hearn, of Kildonan; E. de Blois Green, of Penticton; T. Watson, of Nanaimo; Mrs. E. S. Kelly and Miss Ellen M. Gibson, of Sooke, and H. Bevan, of Duncan, are staying at the Strathcona Hotel.

Vancouver visitors at the Strathcona Hotel include Mrs. H. Miskin, D. McNair, Mrs. J. S. Mutch, Mrs. G. A. Evans, Mrs. J. A. Mills, Mrs. R. J. Mills, Alex. Amst, J. Warwick, J. W. Kilpatrick, Miss Ethel Warrall, Mrs. T. Lawrie, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jacobs and W. R. Dunlop.

The many friends of Mr. H. A. Tomlin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Tomlin, will regret to learn that he sustained a nasty accident while playing in the golf tournament at Colwood yesterday, breaking one of the bones in his right ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Cross and Miss Grace Cross left on Saturday afternoon for Vancouver to visit friends at New Westminster over the holiday.

A. R. McDonald, of Alberni; Mrs. O. Gustafson, of Chemainus; Mrs. C.

Erasmie, N. Delarrey, B. Wilcock, A. McQueen and Mrs. McQueen, of Cumberland, of Port Renfrew; B. Branson and Fred W. Parker, of Duncan; Mrs. Lorensen, of Jordan River, are registered at the Dominion Hotel.

Mrs. J. H. Lawrence, wife of Captain J. H. Lawrence at Camp Lewis, Wash., and two young daughters have arrived in Victoria accompanied by her mother, Mrs. C. Schmeiz, who had been visiting at Fort Casey and Camp Lewis for several weeks.

W. E. Ditchburn, Chief Inspector of Indian Agencies for British Columbia, left yesterday for Penticton and other points in the Okanagan Agency in connection with departmental matters. He will be absent from the city about ten days.

Miss Agnes Lant, who spoke here Monday in connection with the Chautauqua, was the guest of Mrs. A. Cromar Bruce, West Vancouver, yesterday afternoon.

S. Harrington and family, of Saskatoon; James K. More, of Clinton; R. Gilmore, of West Westminster; J. W. Furness and Mrs. Furness, of New Westminster, are staying at the Dominion Hotel.

The Hon. Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M. P., will leave for England, where she will visit Dr. Grace Ritchie, says Canada.

INSTITUTES UNITED FOR GARDEN FETE

Delightful Affair at Esquimalt Saturday For Island Women's Institute

The adjoining gardens of "Wychem" and "Rosewood" at Esquimalt provided a delightful setting for the fete on Saturday, benefiting the funds of the Island District Women's Institute substantially. The fete was well attended and resolved itself into one of the most successful events ever held in Esquimalt.

Mrs. Lawrie, President of the Island District Institute, formally opened the fete with a brief address. Among the many attractions were the folk dances directed by Mrs. McNeill; health exercises carried out by forty children from the Saanich schools under the direction of Miss Kelly, V. O. N.; a playlet and French action songs by children trained by Miss Bell and Mlle. Guerin. The James Bay troop of Boy Scouts contributed a Maypole dance. The fete was a success, and the St. Michael's troop lent valuable assistance as patrols and guides to the many visitors.

Handicrafts similar to those carried on in the English institutes have been started in the local institutes and demonstrations along these lines were given to interested audiences. Mrs. Tocher, of Metochet, demonstrated a knitting machine. Mrs. McVicker explained the use of rabbit skins and rugs in the making of rugs. Mrs. Rutherford demonstrated glove-making and Mrs. Henderson spinning wool.

The various stalls were prettily decorated and attracted many purchasers. The Esquimalt Institute made its public debut with a stall under the direction of Mrs. Ricketts, Mrs. Reid and others.

Mrs. Deacon, of North Saanich Women's Institute, and Mrs. Raven of Strawberry Vale Women's Institute, had charge of the home-cooking stall, which was particularly popular.

Members of other institutes, assisted by Mrs. Foster, of Garden City, served ice cream. Mrs. Guy and Mrs. Murray, of the West Saanich Women's Institute, had charge of the members' stall, where work of the Institute members and produce of farm and garden was sold.

Tea was served in the garden by the Victoria Women's Institute Town Centre members. Additional color was lent to the gardens by the use of flags kindly loaned by Work Point barracks, while bugles from the barracks also gave much assistance during the afternoon.

FOR CHILDREN THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

BIGGEST GIANT AND THE DWARFS Part I.

Biggest Giant lived in a forest at the foot of a high mountain, but while he was the biggest giant he did not like to work, so all day his wife, who was only as large as an ordinary person, had to do all the work.

Poor Mrs. Giant was kept very busy for it took her all the time after sunrise until it was time for her husband to get up to prepare his breakfast, for you see being the biggest giant he ate more than just a small giant.

A big kettle of mush, a whole pot of coffee and a whole ham had to be fried, sliced by slice, and two dozen eggs before the Biggest Giant's appetite was satisfied.

After breakfast Mrs. Giant had to begin to get the dinner ready, and after dinner she began at once to get ready the supper, so you see she was very busy indeed.

"We will weave the cloth"

All this was bad enough, but when after they had been married a year Biggest Giant one morning observed her his worst coat and told her she must make him another, poor Mrs. Giant was in despair.

He told her, too, she must weave the cloth for his coat as well as eat and make it, and how was she to do that she wondered, when she had all his meals to cook.

Mrs. Giant had been a fairy, but when one day she stayed too long in the forest talking to the Biggest Giant and the Fairy Queen found her.

"You shall no longer be a fairy," said the Queen; "instead you shall change your form," so she touched the little fairy with her wand and made her many times her former size.

Of course, she could no longer live with the fairies, and when the Biggest Giant saw that she was large enough to work he said he would marry her. In caves in the mountain lived the green dwarfs, and they did not love the Biggest Giant, for they had been driven from their home, and he would not allow them to return.

It happened on the day that her husband told her she must have a new coat that Mrs. Giant had left her work and gone into the forest close by the mountainside to have a good cry.

Mrs. Giant cried so hard that the green dwarfs poked out their heads from the caves to see what was going on, and one dwarf bolder than the rest asked in a shrill high voice "What are you crying about?" and Mrs. Giant told him about the new coat.

Mrs. Giant knew nothing about the green dwarfs, but she knew that she did not have neighbors because he knew that once a green dwarf knew Mrs. Giant then he was in danger of losing his power.

When the Green Dwarf heard about the new coat he laid a stubby finger on one side of his nose and thought for a minute, then he nodded his head to all the other dwarfs, who were still looking out of their caves, and all the funny heads disappeared.

Just before he went inside the dwarf that had spoken to Mrs. Giant whispered, "Wait," so Mrs. Giant sat very still instead of running back home, as she knew she ought to do, and finish cooking her husband's dinner.

Mrs. O'Doly Rochfort's turn, Mrs. Rochfort is perhaps better known as Phyllis Davis. In the show she enters the ballroom in a gondola of purple iris. She will be dressed as a Yellow Butterfly, and will sing a duet with Mr. "Bunney" Hobday. The last number of this wonderful entertainment will be by Mr. Ernest Le Messurier, of Vancouver, assisted by his talented accompanist, Mr. Le Messurier will present his lightning sketch act. With it he sings, possessing a fine baritone voice which he uses with great effect. It is proposed to auction the results of his work for the benefit of the Memorial Fund.

Heaton's fifteen-piece orchestra will play for the dancing.

EVERYTHING GREASY FOR THE BALL

Stage Set For Brilliant Function at Carnival To-morrow

Everything is in readiness for the Carnival ball. The usual last minute rush for tickets is very evident and many will have to be disappointed. Reservations are coming in fast from outside points, and every assurance is thus given that there will be one of the largest representation of visitors at a social function in the history of Victoria.

Military and Naval Uniforms. With the permission given for former or present officers to wear military uniform, and with the large number of the officers of the Canadian Naval Squadron now in port, who are to attend, combined with the beautiful gown of the ladies and the formal dress of the gentlemen will present a brilliant picture with a naval and military touch. Mrs. Nicol and party from Government House will attend. Capt. Adams, C. B., R. C. N., will attend.

Plans for Features. The various numbers will be presented in the ballroom and the patrons of the function are asked to stand around the room leaving the entire centre of the floor for the artists. The first number is to be presented between dances 3 and 4 and will be the much talked of Broom Festival song in which Mrs. Charles Wilson will star and which she will be accompanied by one of the most novel electrical effects of the whole evening. Mrs. Wilson will enter the ballroom in a gorgeous dress of broom.

Petite Mlle. Charlebois will present the next number. The Blue Bird dance entering the ballroom in a nest drawn by the Misses Frances Briggs, Ruth McBride, Molly Birch and Jean Harvey attired in pale blue costumes. This number of daintiness will be presented between dances 6 and 7.

Miss Eva Hart will present her first number between dances 7 and 8. It will be the "Cigarette Girl." She will also sing later in the evening "Men," a great favorite and a song new to Victoria.

Mrs. Billie Rochfort will give her number between dances 8 and 9. This will be extremely novel, as she will enter in a barrel with several small boys rolling her. Her song will be "Patches," and her attire will carry out that suggestion. This talented artist has recently returned from the South, where she took a prominent part in the movie world. In compliment to this artist, the electrical effect giving the appearance of a "silverheel" will be run for the first part of her number.

Official Supper. There will be a number of cabaret turns between dances 10, 11 and 12, as during these dances the official supper party will be under way. Guests of the majority of the official supper table are asked to note this fact, and not to book dances for those numbers.

Immediately following the official supper party the most extravagant act of the evening, entitled "Harem Eyes," comes on. Kenneth Angus will be the soloist, assisted by Francis Briggs, Ruth McBride, Molly Birch, Vivian Coomb, Jean Harvey. Mlle. Charlebois will be the solo dancer in this turn, dancing alone and also with Mr. Angus. The entire act is elaborately dressed and with charming electrical effects.

"Some Day." Between dances 14 and 15 Mrs. Harry Pooley will sing "Some Day." It is sufficient to say that she will assist to know that her turn will be a brilliant success.

Mrs. Charles Wilson will present her second number between dances 15 and 16. She will sing the "Old Fashioned Garden," assisted by Mrs. Harry Pooley, Mr. Frank Sehl and Mr. K. Angus. Mrs. Wilson will be attired in a wonderful Duchess of Devonshire costume and will carry a huge basket of old fashioned flowers. The entire act is a veritable fairyland and will be the result. All of the wonderful electrical effects are now here.

Mrs. Gibson has all of her artists ready, and everything will go off without a hitch, with Mrs. Gibson, so well known as an accompanist of great merit, the numbers will have added charm.

The guests will use the main entrance and ample dressing room facilities are prepared. Serpentine and souvenir programs will be sold for the memorial fund.

What will be the act beautiful will be Mrs. O'Doly Rochfort's turn. Mrs. Rochfort is perhaps better known as Phyllis Davis. In the show she enters the ballroom in a gondola of purple iris. She will be dressed as a Yellow Butterfly, and will sing a duet with Mr. "Bunney" Hobday. SUGGESTS WORK IN COURTENAY RIVER

Important Improvements Are Contemplated by Dominion Government

Last week in response to a request made by the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade, J. P. Forde, District Engineer for the Department of Works at Victoria, visited Courtenay in order to inspect the river, says the Comox Argus. He was taken up and down the river by E. Lloyd, who explained the most pressing needs of navigators.

As a result of his visit, Mr. Forde will recommend that some boulders and snags that have been a menace to boats coming up the river be taken out at once. Beyond that in respect to dredging it was too late to get it on the estimates for the year.

It is said that the number of times our steamers have made calls at Courtenay during 1918, 1919 and 1920, we have kept no exact record. Owing to the dangerous condition of the river, and the fact that after the Courtenay closed, business fell off, we have not had the boats calling so often for the last year. In 1919 boats were making an average of three trips a month, and the amount of freight handled would be about 400 tons. Last month, however, our steamer "Coaster" and "Clanman," of 149 and seventy-two tons respectively, are able owing to their shallow draft to navigate the river, but our "Celtic" is too large. As regards the condition of the river, this has always been unsatisfactory, and we have had the boats damaged several times through striking snags, resulting in breaking propellers and shafts. The river was left in a most unsatisfactory state after the dredging, the boulders taken out being piled up on both sides of the channel, and we believe many of them rolled down into the fairway. Then at a point above the Grain Grower's wharf the channel needs to be straightened as at present the boats have to make a sharp turn at right angles, which is very difficult owing to the narrow channel and strong tide. There are numbers of boulders between Crawford's barn and the Courtenay Mill which should be removed, and some dredging done at a point near Crawford's, where there is a bar forming.

"We will ask one of our captains to make a rough plan of the river and get their suggestions and forward to you, as we would be only too glad if you can have something done to improve the river. It seems to us that the work done at the mouth of the river was largely useless, as it is no use having a channel there where the bottom is sand, and have the upper part left with all sorts of boulders and obstructions and no proper markings.

"The fact that Burdock Blood Bitters keep the stomach, liver and bowels toned up is proof enough to show that it will eliminate the cause of the headaches.

There is only one way to get relief from these persistent headaches, and that is by going direct to the cause of the trouble, for unless the cause is removed, the headaches will still continue to exist.

A GAMBLE IN BEAUTY

By NANCIBELLE HALE.

ONE LOVE STORY YOU NEVER CAN FORGET.

The Romances of Two Sisters, Both Beautiful, One Demure, the Other Vampish—With Thrills in Every Chapter and an Unexpected Denouement.

CHAPTER V.

If life to Varla Amory those first few weeks, held something of sweetness, it held still more of bitterness. For her delicate illusion had been torn away; the future held nothing for her.

If tiny hollows showed in the cheeks that had been round and smooth, if her eyes were too deeply circled for her age and she started nervously at any sound, no one was the wiser. Her voice still was sweet and she could smile with her lips; fortunately, people were not very observant.

Her new home took up much of her time. John had secured five rooms and had in the Westworth, and Varla had always gayly looked forward to housekeeping.

From the living room she had a sweeping view of the Hudson, and many an afternoon, sitting on the curving window seat, her chin cupped in her hand, she watched the river craft steaming by and saw the blue fade into amethyst and darken into twilight as a gray veil slipped over the Jersey shore.

With what delight she had thought of a "scheme" for her room! The rich cream woodwork and the low bookcases built about the walls, the paper that held a note of sunshine and the furniture that she had picked up after days of scouring the city antique shops, second-hand shops and even pilgrimages out into Westchester County was unusual and charming.

A grandfather chair with great claw feet was covered in gay English chintz, like her hangings. A quaint old table held a lamp with a painted parchment shade, a few pictures and a bowl of flowers. There was a desk in the corner with the jade desk set Adam had given them for their wedding present—extravagant gift—and John's printed book mother in its dull gold frame looking down wistfully at Varla as she sat at the round mahogany table.

The guest room was still unfinished. Varla had not had the heart to go on with it; for, it was here that she kept herself and her possessions. Somehow, this room was symbolic over present life—the high hopes with which she had started out on her marriage, the downfall of her happiness.

The beautiful shell toilette set was on the plain bureau. Her bed was covered by a white counterpane, no curtains hung at the window. On the gray wall hung a single picture: Raphael's Cartoon of the Holy Family. Often as she lay in her white bed she would look at it and, gentle face and draw some comfort from its sweetness.

The little kitchen was one of the gayest rooms in their home. Perched on a stool was the presence of Sally Lou that made it so, or the blue enamel pans that twinkled from their nails. Sally Lou, who had been black that she seemed to take up most of the room, had come to be Varla's cook. But she was more her friend and her adviser than her cook. She had lived with them through the days without the big heart of Sally Lou.

"Now you leave the mark on Sally," she would smile, showing her fine white teeth. "I'm going to get you all a nice dinner, with biscuits and chicken—and I must visit that fowl myself!" or "Miss Amory, you look kind o' pindling to-day—you run out and get the air, while Sally makes your lunch."

And Varla, "running out to get the air," would pace the long walks of Riverside Drive, turning over and over her problem in her mind. Should she leave John? She could not. At the bottom of her heart lingered a hope that he might grow to love her as she loved him. But just a little.

How kind John was! She could see him as he sat across from her at breakfast, his dark face, bumping and strong mouth, treating her with the gentle consideration that was natural to him. If only he would beat me? If he would be mean a little or do something so that I could hate him! Varla told herself unconsciously, clenching her hands.

"How can I make him love me?" A hundred times a day she asked the question but never found the answer. She had to be careful, so very careful, not to let him see how deeply she was his. She knew he would take her in his arms as he had done that first time in his loneliness, and then she would be weak. For it was only pity he could feel for her, or kindness. A man could not love two women at the same time; and Varla knew that he loved Nina passionately, although her name was not mentioned between them.

On another of these crisp sunny afternoons, Varla found herself taking her favorite walk along the Drive, with her thoughts so far away that she was startled when Molly Silwell came up to her breathlessly.

"I've simply been tearing after you," she gasped, "you walk as though you were going somewhere." "Why, Molly, what's the matter?" Varla asked, pulled out of her own thoughts by the expression on Molly's pretty face.

"Matter? Oh, my dear, you'll never understand; these people who are married and just have to live happily ever after! What do they know about the tragedies of life?"

Varla could not suppress the laugh that broke from her at the mocking expression on Molly's face. "You could never imagine the things that happen to me daily, hourly," Molly said, slipping her arm through Varla's and leading her to a confidential tone. "At any moment the telephone rings, and the last time I called Rupert, Jim! Jim insists he will know John's whereabouts, and he has been here all right, but I don't dare to do it now. I'm afraid Jim would kill himself or Rupert turn into a woman-hater!"

She poured the story of the last week's tragedies and comedies, saying at last: "Oh, Varla, you are such a help. Just your listening!" Varla suddenly came to herself. "John said he would be home early to-night. I will have to turn back!" John let himself into the apartment with his latch key.

"Mrs. Amory out?" he asked as Sally Lou's black face peered out of the kitchen door.

"She done gone to get the air, sir!" John Amory flung down his hat in his own room and then went out into the sunny living room. He opened his cigarette case and struck a match. He was smoking too much lately, and it was beginning to tell on his nerves. Now he flung out of the chair and began to walk the length of the rug, with his hands behind his head.

He had come home, it was true, to look over some blue-prints, but that was only an excuse. He had hoped to have a talk with Varla. This sort of thing couldn't keep up; he was not blind even if she thought he was. He had noticed those black lines beneath her lovely eyes. She scarcely ate anything. He'd seen that, too. Wasn't natural for a girl of twenty. What a sweet thing she was! Never a word of censure for him, but sometimes he saw her face when she thought there wasn't looking, saw something there that made him choke up and have to get out of the room.

Curse Nina! "So that's the way you feel about it," a languorous voice drawled. For a moment Varla thought he had conjured the vision of this woman that stood before him, rich and dark and alluring, with her furs flung back so that her white throat showed.

"No, you didn't say anything out loud," Nina laughed, dropping down into a chair. "If that's what you're afraid of, old thing!"

"What are you doing here?" John Amory asked with a scowl.

"Am I not allowed to visit my own sister, may I ask your lordship?" Nina loosened her furs and slipped them back, and John Amory, fighting as he was against her, felt his eyes drawn to her beauty. She pretended that she did not know he was watching her; she lowered her lashes and bit her lip so that a dimple showed in the olive smoothness of her skin.

"Well, do you think it has agreed with you?" she asked, flippantly. "What?" he ejaculated, aroused as he always was by Nina's unexpectedness. "Marriage, old dear!"

He shrugged and turned away from her. (To Be Continued.)

Victoria Day of Forty Years Ago

Regatta at the Gorge.

By T. J. D.

During several days before the Queen's Birthday, steam pinnaces were towing large cutters filled with blue jackets on the way from Esquimalt to the Gorge. Flags of all nations were strung across the water from one shore to the other. A large scow with a cannon mounted was moored at a point below the Gorge bridge. Tents were erected on Curtis Point. Every row boat available was engaged for the coming festival. Scows with board seats were prepared, while the small steamer, "Emma," was advertised to make hourly trips to and from the Gorge. On the Queen's Birthday thousands of visitors arrived from Seattle and other United States ports along Puget Sound to witness the regatta. It was Victoria Day in reality, and was recognized by all classes from far and near. Flags floated from every flagstaff in the city. The hotels were crowded, while people sought food and rest wherever available. In all manner of conveyance people flocked to the Gorge. The banks of the beautiful Arm were crowded with men, women and children in holiday attire.

Haynes's Band furnished music on one side of the Gorge. Schaffer's Band was located on the other side. A naval band occupied Curtis Point. There was music in the air, and a general tone of jollification in all directions. Boats bumped and overturning here and there. Racing craft intermingled with barges and scows. Sailors and soldiers, men, women and children, were bent on enjoyment. The cannon roared out for the first race. Out from the general mix-up rowed the sturdy crews of the "Onward" and the "Tyne." Four young men in each of the outrigger racing shells. Richard Broderick, in a stentorian voice gave directions, "the cannon roars out at a twenty time, and away the two crews row over a three-mile course around Deadman's Island and return."

The twelve-oared naval cutters are then called out, one from each of the ships in Esquimalt harbor, makes its way to the starting point. Standing at the stern of each craft is the helmsman. Away they go, the helmsmen bowing and shouting while the twelve large cars dip and glister in the sun. Race follows race, in quick succession while the bands vie with each other in furnishing music and noise. Boats and boats were scattered over the grounds where the thirsty imbibed, and the children purchased sweets. The "greasy pole" out over the waters of the Arm.

On another of these crisp sunny afternoons, Varla found herself taking her favorite walk along the Drive, with her thoughts so far away that she was startled when Molly Silwell came up to her breathlessly.

"I've simply been tearing after you," she gasped, "you walk as though you were going somewhere." "Why, Molly, what's the matter?" Varla asked, pulled out of her own thoughts by the expression on Molly's pretty face.

furnished fun. It was a day of enjoyment for all.

The following day a review of the naval brigade or horse races would take place at Beacon Hill. At times the celebration would extend for three days, towards the expenses of which the citizens subscribed liberally. Excursion rates were low from all directions, while tickets were good for a week. The Victorians would pay return visits to the United States on Independence Day, which created a feeling of amity between the two nations. There is little difference at the Gorge since the early days. Power boats have replaced the row boat in the conveyance of picnic parties on the Arm. Street cars have taken the place of the "rattle-trap" wagons and horse-drawn vehicles. Victoria has assumed proportions. Many changes have taken place; but the days of old the days of gold, will long be remembered by the generation of young people who spent their Queen's Birthday at the Gorge.

SIR ALFRED YARROW PAYING VISIT HERE

Founder of Famous Shipbuilding Firm Looking Over Interests Here

Sir Alfred Yarrow, veteran founder of the famous shipbuilding firm of Yarrow & Co., Scotstoun, on the Clyde, and parent firm of the plant located at Esquimalt, is in the city, paying a visit to his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Yarrow.

Still very active, in spite of the 79 Summers that have passed over his head, Sir Alfred Yarrow takes keen interest in the activities of the Esquimalt branch, at the foundation of which he was so conspicuously identified.

The plant at Esquimalt was primarily acquired by Sir Alfred Yarrow on assurances given by the Dominion Government that a large and modern drydock would be established at Esquimalt, and while on this tour, the noted British shipbuilder is greatly pleased to observe that the important undertaking has at last been put under way. Since his arrival here Sir Alfred Yarrow has inspected the drydock site and is satisfied that the project will have an important bearing on the future development of the port.

Sir Alfred Yarrow commenced business as a shipbuilder and engineer at Poplar in 1866, and removed his interests to Scotstoun, on the Clyde, in 1896, where the firm has become recognized as specialists in the construction of torpedo boats and destroyers, also river steamers of shallow draft. The Yarrow boiler is now generally adopted by the navies of the world.

CHARLOTTE IS HERE UNDERGOING REPAIRS

Stop Valve Trouble Developed on Starboard Engine

Owing to stop valve trouble which developed on the starboard engine last week-end at Vancouver, the Canadian Pacific Railway steamship Princess Charlotte has been temporarily withdrawn from the Gulf service and in view of the mishap changes have been necessitated relative to the special steamer excursion which will be operated to-morrow between Vancouver and Victoria.

The Princess Charlotte, which was originally scheduled to take the excursion, will be replaced by the Princess Adelaide. The Adelaide will leave Vancouver at 8.30 o'clock to-morrow morning and will sail on the return trip at 7 o'clock.

All the other boats of the fleet are booked well ahead, and an exception to the regular holiday program, anticipated a rush job is being performed by Yarrows, Ltd., on the Charlotte, and it is expected that she will be again in commission in three days.

The steamship Prince George, of the Canadian National Railways, went to Esquimalt yesterday and will be overhauled at Yarrows, Ltd., during the week.

The Prince Rupert left here yesterday on the Prince George's schedule for Seattle, and will leave Vancouver at 8 o'clock to-night for Prince Rupert, making her first trip north since being reconditioned at Esquimalt.

FORM FIRST MARINE EXCHANGE IN JAPAN

Prominent Shipping Companies Are Behind Scheme at Kobe

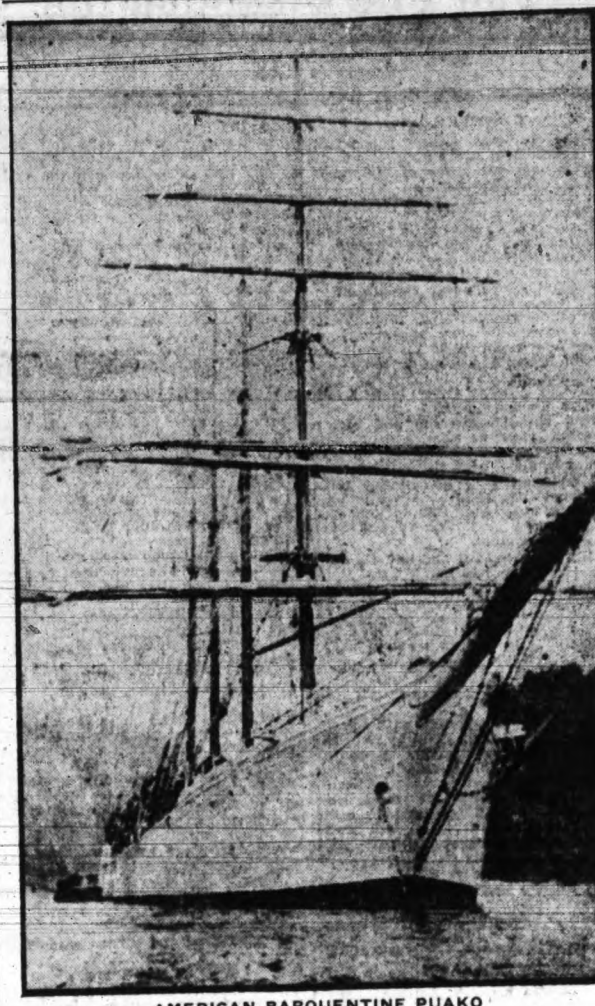

The first shipping exchange in Japan is to be established shortly at Kobe. The proposal was first brought forward during the war, when the Japanese shipping market, especially that in Kobe, the centre of Japan's shipping trade, was very active.

Shipping activity was interfered with owing to the non-existence of a recognized place for the transaction of shipping business and to obviate that inconvenience, prominent Japanese shipowners, shippers and shipbrokers proposed the establishment of a marine exchange.

The proposal was enthusiastically supported, but its realization had to be postponed pending the completion of a suitable building, then in course of construction.

The building is expected to be completed in June. The plan for the establishment of a shipping exchange has accordingly made further progress, and at the instance of Teijiro Kawamura, chief of the Shipping Department of the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, a meeting of promoters was held at the Oriental Hotel on April 23. The promoters include the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, the Toyoko Kisen Kaisha, the Kokuyo Kisen Kaisha and other leading Japanese shipping companies and a number of shipping brokers and shippers.

It is expected that the proposed shipping exchange will be organized as a joint stock concern, capitalized at $100,000, to be divided into shares of $250 each. One-half of the share money is to be paid in, and business commenced. There will be two classes of members, principal and associate members. The former are employers or proprietors who conduct their shipping business on their own account, while the associate members are to be appointed from among their members. The exchange is to be opened at a specified time in the morning and in the afternoon for the transaction of shipping business.

WEST DECLARES IT IS BEYOND PRICE

He Wouldn't Sell the Good Tanlac Did for any Amount, States Winnipeg Man

"You couldn't pile up money enough around me to buy the good Tanlac has done me," said Harry West, 1613 Notre Dame Avenue, Winnipeg.

"I had indigestion so bad I was really afraid to eat on account of the awful pains after meals. Why, they nearly drew me double. I was so nervous that, honestly, I had about forgotten how it felt to get a good night's sleep. But my worst trouble was rheumatism, for my whole body ached from head to foot."

"I couldn't bend my knees. In fact my legs were as stiff as a board. My arms were practically useless, for I couldn't even fasten my collar and tie, and I had an awful time every morning getting my clothes on. These troubles bothered me for several years, and it seemed to me I tried everything in the drug store, but nothing ever helped me."

"Well, I got Tanlac, thinking it might give me an appetite and put my stomach in good shape, and it certainly did, for I have been eating like a horse ever since, and have gained eight pounds in weight. I sleep like a baby, and in fact I haven't a trace of nervousness or indigestion left."

"Well, Tanlac didn't stop at that either, for it has knocked out my rheumatism completely, something I never dreamed it would do. I can bend my knees, use my arms and get around in every way as well as I ever could. It has been three months since I finished my last bottle of Tanlac, and I haven't felt a pain in all that time. In fact, the medicine has put me on my feet, feeling like a brand new man. It certainly is great."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell and other Druggists.

PUAKO IN PORT AFTER SLOW RUN FROM AUSTRALIA

American Barquentine Arrived Saturday 94 Days Out From Newcastle, N.S.W.

After a slow passage from Australia, the American barquentine Puako staged a surprisingly smart finish on Saturday when, under a full spread of sail, she skimmed up the Straits and fetched up to an anchorage in the Royal Roads. The vessel came to a mooring in the Roads Saturday night, ninety-four days out from Newcastle, N. S. W.

The slow passage is attributed by Captain Charles E. Helms to adverse winds and frequent calms in the tropical zone. The hull of the vessel was very foul, which militated against a quick passage.

To Be Hauled Out

While in port here the Puako will be hauled out for cleaning and painting. Yarrows, Ltd., will do the work, negotiations already having been opened with the Esquimalt firm for the overhauling contract.

The reports which emanated from Seattle hinting at possible disaster to the Puako, are regarded by Captain Helms as a huge bluff. The Puako sailed from Newcastle, February 18 in ballast for this port. She was becalmed for many days in crossing the equator and head winds subsequently encountered still further held the ship back.

Two Days Outside

The Puako was outside Cape Flattery for two days with easterly winds holding her offshore. She headed inside on Saturday forenoon, and driving before a southwesterly breeze, and by 10 o'clock Saturday night the windjammer was safely at anchor in the Royal Roads. Captain Percy Shandforth, of the B. C. Pilotage Association, boarded the Puako off the Race Rocks, and assisted in bringing the sailing vessel to an anchorage.

The hull of the vessel is coated with barnacles and marine growth and it will be necessary to drydock the craft. Within the next day or two the Puako will shift to Esquimalt harbor and be turned over to Yarrows, Ltd.

Previous Long Trip

On her last voyage to this port from Australia the Puako arrived August 16, 1920, and on that occasion occupied forty-three days in making the trip from Honolulu. Repairs were made at Yarrows, Ltd., before the ship again set sail for Australia.

It was the intention of her owners, Hind, Rolph & Co., of San Francisco, to lay the Puako up at Esquimalt on the completion of her present voyage owing to lack of a charter. The vessel, however, may be put into commission very shortly, and Captain Helms is now awaiting instruction from San Francisco.

OCEAN LINERS NEW

FIELD FOR CAMERA

Snapping Notables and "Shooting" Scenes Now Common in N. Y.

New York, May 23.—Taking pictures is the principal outdoor sport on the sailing day on the ocean liners, and sometimes as many as twenty camera men are present when such big Cunarders as the Aquitania, Mauretania, Berengaria, or other large ocean steamers push out into the stream on their way to Europe.

As a rule pictures are made on the sun deck, on the tiptop of the ship, and often the interest is considerably out of the ordinary. In this photograph, a family, numbering eighteen, posed for their picture.

The photograph also shows the interest taken in picture making on sailing day. Three moving picture machines stand on the starboard side, while across the deck from them are scattered half a dozen cameras. And this is only one section of the sun deck.

Many celebrities do not object to having their pictures taken on an incoming or outgoing steamer of large capacity. The big film companies make movies of people upon whom either fame or fortune has smiled, and the photographers supplying agencies have men to snap pictures of notables to sell to newspapers and magazines. Consequently on any part of the ship where the light is strong enough the click of the photographer may be heard on arriving or departing liners.

Most passengers like pictures made aboard the steamer because they constitute both a record and a souvenir of the trip.

Scarcely a week passes without a large film company shooting scenes on one of the big steamers. Constance Talmadge made part of "A Woman's Place" on the Mauretania. Tom Moore "shot" scenes for the Made in Heaven on the Corona, and Marguerite Clark finished "Scrambled Wives" on the Aquitania. In such scenes the film company usually supplies its own ship's officers and seamen, but when they come short-handed the ship's crew always fills up the gaps. "Made in Heaven" pressed fifteen into service, including several stewardesses who impersonated immigrants. Motion picture directors also come to the steamers for immigrant types, the Mary Pickford company's cameramen getting several reels on the Berengaria and the K.A. Victoria. Thus the ship is the new field for the photographer.

BACK TO THE LAND

An old farmer, with his seventeen-year-old son, entered a country editor's office.

"This boy of mine," he said, "wants to go into the literary business. Is there any money in it?"

"Well, yes," said the editor. "I've been in it for the last ten years."

The farmer glanced round at the office, surveyed the editor up and down, and then, turning to his son, said:

"Come 'long, Jim, an' get back to your ploughin'!"—Edinburgh Scots.

Malaspina's Cook Charged With Refusing Duty After Resigning

Prince Rupert, May 23.—The question of whether a ship's cook can refuse to take the captain's orders after resigning his job is involved in a mild case of alleged mutiny now before the local courts. J. P. McKinnery, cook of the vessel Malaspina, was arrested, charged with refusing to do his duty. Capt. Newcombe, of the Malaspina, complained that the cook refused to take orders, and replied that he "had been a long time on coast boats and

BRIEF LOCALS

Physic Research Society Meeting.—The Physic Research Society will hold its usual meeting to-night instead of Friday, at 1414 Douglas Street. Everybody welcome.

Guild of Health.—Rev. T. E. Rowe will lecture in the Cathedral school-room on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. On Wednesday morning Mr. Rowe will be in the school room for consultation from 10.30 to 12 o'clock.

A Notable Result.—In the recent examinations held at Victoria College, affiliated to the University of B.C., Leslie Howlett gained 496 marks, placing him head of the first year in British Columbia by six marks.

Altar Society Met.—At the K. of C. Hall on Saturday evening the ladies of the Altar Society of St. Andrew's Cathedral held a five hundred drive and social. Mrs. Ure, F. O'Neill, Miss J. Dickson and J. McDonald were successful in prizes. Dancing followed the card games, an enjoyable time having been spent by the large number present.

I. O. D. E. Present Pictures.—A brief Empire Day celebration was held at the Margaret Jenkins School today, when the members of the Margaret Rocke Robertson Chapter, I. O. D. E., presented pictures to the pupils of the school, in connection with the historical presentation planned by the I. O. D. E. A large number of the parents of the pupils were present to take part in the ceremony.

British Campaigners Parade.—Members of the British Campaigners' Association are requested to attend the parade to-morrow and to assemble at the corner of Yates and School Streets at 9.15 a.m. sharp of that day. Arrangements will be made to have cars for the disabled and older members. Decorations and service honors should be worn on lapel of outer coat.

Lady Slightly Cut.—Two cars came together at the corner of Fairfield Road and Linden Avenue on Saturday afternoon, when that driven by Mrs. Kropp crashed over the curb and struck a tree, the flying glass inflicting painful cuts on its driver. The car, driven by Frank A. Rumbay, escaped without serious damage. Mrs. Kropp was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in the police ambulance, where Dr. Kenning attended and dressed the injury.

Girls in Training Tea.—The Cathedral branch of the Canadian Girls in Training Movement held an enjoyable tea on Saturday afternoon last at the residence of Miss Fatt, 601 Trutch Street. Music followed. The entertainment was in the hands of a cabaret committee, Misses M. Bishop, M. Cartier, G. Bosuto, K. Wellburn and B. Hicks assisting. Tea was served by Miss Peggy Fatt, a large number of the C. G. I. T. members being on hand.

Naval Concert Planned.—The Rising Sun naval concert party from H. M. C. S. Aurora, will give a concert in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel on Saturday evening next, commencing at 8.15 o'clock. The proceeds are to go to the funds of the local Boy Scout movement. A lively programme is now in course of preparation. The naval concert party has made itself very popular here during its brief stay up to the present time, and the concert at the Empress Hotel will be one of the best entertainments yet staged by that group of merry-makers.

In Police Court.—In a short session of the police court to-day E. P. Nathan and Samuel Levy Company, second hand dealers of Government Street, were fined $20 for failure to report all articles purchased, as is required by the police regulations for second hand stores. The practice of reporting articles bought is one of the closest checks on the goods reported stolen, and failure to do this is considered a serious matter in police circles. The dealers were cautioned against a similar lapse at any future date.

Fancy Dress Social.—The "Three M's Society" of First Congregational church will hold a fancy dress social to-night at 8 o'clock in the upstairs clubroom of the church. Prizes will be awarded for the most original costume, lady, and the most original costume, gentleman. Guessing competitions, games and a musical programme will add to the success of the evening's entertainment. Refreshments will be served by the members of the social committee. All members and friends of the society are cordially invited.

Disturbs Long Sleeper.—Alarmed at receiving no response from one of the roomers at the Royal Arms Hotel on Saturday evening last, the manager knocked on the door and found it to be locked. Calling to the police, as the room had been locked for twenty-four hours then and found play was feared, the manager urged the police to make an entry to ascertain what had taken place. The constable knocked on the door of the room, but gained no answer. Breaking in the door he found Louis Boschini asleep. The roomer had been sleeping for the past twenty-four hours without a break and was very hungry, and annoyed at being disturbed.

To-morrow afternoon the boys of the city, between the ages of twelve and fourteen, will have a chance of indulging in a piratical enterprise—a real honest-to-goodness treasure hunt. The very idea reminds one of the days of buccaners on the Spanish Main. Of Treasure Island and Long John Silver, of Captain Kidd and Morgan, of one-eyed sailors and ghostly treasure ships. But the treasure in this case is one which even these "bold, bad, villains" couldn't attain—health and fun rolled into one week. Victoria Day, the Boys' Division of the Y. M. C. A. is putting on a treasure hunt, open to all boys of the city of twelve to fourteen years of age, whether members of the "Y" or not, the prize to be one free week at Beaver Lake Camp. The hunt will start at one o'clock from the Y. M. C. A., and will take less than an hour, finishing in lots of time to enable the boys to see the regatta. Each boy will receive a piece of paper giving him his route. He follows this route and finds the first clue. From one clue he goes to the next one, and so on till he eventually arrives at the prize—if he is lucky. The prize is worth the effort, so line up boys to-morrow and try your skill at treasure hunting.

MANY WILL ARRIVE

FROM PORT ANGELES

Citizens Asked to Return Hospitality to Visitors

The Chamber of Commerce has received word from Port Angeles that a large number of Port Angeles people are coming over to Victoria for to-morrow's celebration. This will give an opportunity to all those Victorians who visited Port Angeles last Wednesday to repay some of the hospitality that was shown them in Port Angeles, and show Victoria's neighbors across the line how well Victoria can entertain them. The party will arrive on the S.S. Sol Duc at 11.30 a.m. to-morrow.

When the Princess Adelaide arrived at the docks at Port Angeles last week there were nearly one hundred motor cars lined up to be placed at the disposal of the Victoria guests. Port Angeles has only a population of about 7,000, and it looked as though all the motor cars in town were at the dock. From the time Victorians arrived until they boarded the steamer to come home, every possible effort was made by the Port Angeles people to care for their wants entertainment.

The celebration will give Victorians an excellent opportunity to show the friendly spirit for which Victoria has a reputation in Port Angeles. On the occasion of the excursion Acting Mayor Sangster extended a cordial invitation to the Mayor and people of Port Angeles to visit us, and it was suggested that all Port Angeles people should wear a ribbon with the name of their city, when they are over here.

For To-morrow's Parade.—All members of the Army and Navy Veterans are requested to parade at the Central School, Yates Street, at 9.30 o'clock to-morrow morning to participate in the holiday celebrations. It is requested that all decorations be worn.

Timely Discovery Made.—A full case of King George V. whisky was donated to the police on Saturday evening by a longshoreman, who stated he found the valuable consignment near the immigration building at the Outer Wharf.

Mass Meeting on Salary Question.—The question of the raising of the Parliamentary indemnities and salaries and the lowering of the wages of laborers on Provincial Government works will be discussed at a mass meeting to be held at Pantages Theatre on Sunday afternoon next at 3 o'clock, under the joint auspices of nine organizations of the city.

FEARED MANY SAANICH VOTERS MAY LOSE RIGHTS

Less Than Month Remains in Which Disfranchised Residents May Register

Unless there is a tremendous accession in interest in registration in Saanich, there is every probability that hundreds of residents in that Provincial electoral district will be without a vote should there be an early Dominion election.

Registrar William Graham this morning stated that of seventeen hundred names struck off the roll as non-voters at the last Provincial election, only about one hundred have hitherto sent in their applications for re-registration, although all have been notified through the mails.

Registrar Graham pointed out that there is now less than one month remaining in which residents in Saanich or Oak Bay can get their names upon the voters' list, as the roll will close on June 30.

In addition to those who were struck off as non-voters and who are required to re-register, there has been a large increase in population in Saanich since the list was compiled on the new basis last June.

MIDNIGHT REVEL OF YOUTHFUL BURGLARS

Mix Ice Cream Sundae and Steal Quantity of Cigarettes

A burglary, apparently the work of some juvenile persons, took place during last night on the premises occupied by Lou Jew, a Chinaman, at Pandora Street, when thieves forced an entrance through the Manshard Avenue side, and took away a large quantity of cigarettes and tobacco. That the work is that of boys was thought conclusive when it was found that the thief or thieves helped themselves to numerous ice cream sundae, chocolate and apparently mixed themselves more than one sundae during the midnight revel. The cigarettes and tobacco taken amount to a considerable value, and comprise several packages of every brand in the store. A large quantity of chewing gum was also removed by the thieves, who made good their retreat without being disturbed.

A second attempt at burglary was perpetrated on the residence of Mr. Dixon, 100 Kingston Street, when the owner being awakened by noise at one of the rear windows, saw two men standing outside. Mr. Dixon shouted to the men and advised them to clear off or he would telephone for the police, they responding that "he had better not," but departing nevertheless.

Several cases of incidental prowling has been recorded at the police station within the last few weeks.

Team Is Picked For First Lacrosse Game

Billie Fitzgerald, Manager of Vics, Will Lead His Twelve Against Vancouver To-morrow; Eddie Powers Appointed Captain; Interest Keen Over Game.

Victoria's professional lacrosse team will make its first public appearance at Vancouver to-morrow afternoon. The twelve Luskies, led by the veteran Billie Fitzgerald, will leave on to-night's boat for the mainland and will figure in the opening tussle of the season at the new Stadium erected by Con Jones at a cost of $30,000.

The Vics, while not in the best of condition, expect to give the Vancouver crew, managed by Ernie Murray, a very strenuous game. Bill Jones, one of Con's sons, who is over here looking after the Vics, stated this morning that they expect one of the biggest crowds in the history of lacrosse in Vancouver at the holiday fixture.

Billie Fitzgerald has been selected to manage the Vics and Eddie Powers will be the captain.

The Line-Up.

This morning Manager Fitzgerald announced that his line-up for to-morrow's game would be as follows: Goal—Bud Torphy. Point—Ernie Munro. First Defense—Tom Fitzgerald. Second Defense—Larry Doran. Third Defense—Bob MacKay. Centre—Sugar Macdougall. Third Home—Billie Fitzgerald. First Home—Spellen. Outside Home—Geo. Collins. Inside Home—Joe Mitchell or Bert Johnson.

Have Been Working Out.

Since the Easterners arrived here on Saturday afternoon they have taken part in several work-outs. On Saturday evening they limbered up their limbs and worked their new sticks into shape at the Stadium. Their performance was watched by a large gathering of fans. This morning Manager Fitzgerald trotted the boys out for another light work-out.

"We've got the makings of a good team," said Fitzgerald after this morning's work-out. "Every man is fast and has a good head and as soon as we get into good condition we will make them hum in this circuit. The local boys will fit in well with the team."

Much interest has been aroused here in the revival of pro lacrosse in Victoria. It is expected that the opening game here, which is set for Wednesday evening, June 1, will draw a large crowd.

The Vics will carry with them the wishes of the local fans for success in their opening struggle at Vancouver to-morrow.

Vancouver, May 23.—With the Vancouver Terminus having demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that they possess the attributes of lacrosse champions, interest momentarily centres on the Vancouver-Victoria game at Con Jones' Park to-morrow afternoon.

While a large contingent of fans will journey to New Westminster to witness the Greenhirts do battle with the Salmonbellies at Queen's Park, just as they have done for years back, there are many that will break the ties of habit and this year head their way to the new pavilion.

The gathering will probably be unusual as many supporters of the B.C.L.A. will attend to satisfy their curiosity as to the comparative merits of the inter-city league team, while others will attend because they are confirmed followers of the particular players under the direction of Ernie Murray and Billy Fitzgerald.

Vancouver, May 23.—Vancouver Terminus on Saturday afternoon made a bid in the season's fight for world's lacrosse championship honors when they defeated the New Westminster players by a score of eight to five.

Five thousand or more fans saw the game. Newby Lalonde was the man of the hour, having scored four goals, while others who were in the home forces to victory against the world's hardest opposition.

Orangeville Lacrosse Team Not Coming West After Mann Trophy

Toronto, May 22.—Inquiry made here to-night as to when the Dufferin Lacrosse Club of Orangeville would send a team to the coast, elicited the information that the idea of such a trip had been given up.

President Smith, of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association, said to-night that he understood the proposal was abandoned about two weeks ago on receipt of information that professional and amateur lacrosse conditions in British Columbia were "rather muddled."

Scottish Team Surprises Halifax With Its Ability

Halifax, May 23.—Defeating the representative Halifax soccer team by a score of seven goals to nothing, the Scottish eleven during the first game of its Canadian tour, Saturday demonstrated the art and science of playing football with an ability simply astounding. A crowd of 2,500 witnessed the exhibition.

Wilson scored four of the visitors' goals, Rankin two and MacAndrews one.

Wonderful Defense. The local eleven played excellent football, Captain Campbell and Goalie Wilson distinguishing themselves in particular, but their attack wasted in the first and second stanzas, for they were not nearly so dangerous in the closing period.

Storme broke from the amateur to the professional ranks during the game, and showed much ability. George Feeney, Doughey and Grumpy Spring, Haddie Stoddart, Bernie Feedham, the Giffords, Stark, in fact the whole New Westminster tribe, were showing flashes of their real form all along the way, but their passing was not up to their standard.

New Westminster was the same fleetfooted, rugged, heady aggregation that has kept the Royal City before the eyes of the sport world. They, too, showed they are not yet in the best of condition, but they evidently put too much into the game in the first and second stanzas, for they were not nearly so dangerous in the closing period.

Chicago went into third place in the National League yesterday, defeating Brooklyn.

Hard hitting has put Detroit third in the American race.

Pittsburgh after winning every series played, encountered strong opposition in New York yesterday. The Pirates were successful although their star pitcher, Cooper, was pounded hard. The contest between the leading rivals drew such a large crowd that it was estimated that as many were turned away from the grounds as were admitted. The Pirates scored three straight victories over Brooklyn, resumed the timely hitting that gave them nine consecutive games early this month. The Brooklyn pitchers were hit for 55 runs last week, and a major league record this season.

Boston Pitchers Good. The Boston Nationals had their best week of the season, due mostly to good pitching. St. Louis's batting gave the Cardinals a series in Brooklyn. Cincinnati is losing ground at a fast clip.

In the American League, Cleveland and New York, both of which won yesterday by a coincidence, showed the same strength last week in attack and defence, in the matter of runs scored. Each tallied 41 times and each scored only one run. The Indians after losing a series to Washington and New York, only retained first place by taking three games out of four from Philadelphia, who are playing good ball despite defeats. The New York Americans were held even by Chicago, another team to have its best week of the season. Detroit is pressing Cleveland and New York but lost step yesterday when Washington, by Philadelphia, Washington's tour of the West has been unsuccessful, with the exception of its visit to Cleveland.

The Sidney team went down to defeat in an intermediate lacrosse game with the Shamrocks at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday by a score of 3-1, after a clean game, devoid of either accidents or penalties.

Both teams made a few changes in their line-ups from the previous Saturday. The score was a tie till within six minutes of full time when the Shamrocks rushed in two goals.

The Shamrocks scored a thirty-five game did not draw much of a crowd.

Caps Were Not There And Yakima Won Two

Willets Pitched Beautiful Game But Local Infielders Could Not Behave Themselves and Tossed Game Away; Crabapples Had Things Their Own Way In Second Tussle.

First Game—Yakima, 3; Victoria, 2. Second Game—Yakima, 9; Victoria, 3.

Two perfectly good ball games went the wrong way at the Stadium on Saturday. The first was thrown away by Shannon, Church and Rego, who committed miscues in the pinches, and the second was lost because Wallace, the Caps' hurler, had little more than his uniform when he took the rubber.

The loss of the matinee game nearly broke the stout heart of big Ed. Willets and it certainly did not help along the nervous temperaments of the fans. Willets did his best to win the game. He held the Yakima tribe down to four hits, one of which went for a triple in the first innings, but was not responsible for any runs.

Made All Caps' Runs. Not content with trying to hold the sluggers from Fruitville in check, Willets swung his own club with vengeance. But he was always alone in the fifth inning after two men had passed away Edward waded into hot shoot from Valencia and slapped the agate over the boards for a homer.

In the eighth Willets was again responsible for a score. He tried to inspire his team-mates with a little fighting spirit, and laced a double to centre-field. Anfinson went in to bat for Gatewood and he whipped a hard single into right-field. Willets trotted home from second, but Anfinson was nipped at the key-stone sack after a fast bit of fielding.

A Good Chance Killed. In the ninth inning the Capitals had a splendid chance to tie up the game, if not win. Messner was sent in to bat for Bankhead and he worked Valencia for a pass. After Handley flew out Dempsey cut a two-base hit to right, sending Messner to the plate. Willets had things his own way until the fourth, when his team-mates got the willets. With one out Lafayette was walked and Harrigan laid an easy roller to Willets. The stage was set for a double, but Shannon forgot about covering second, and both runners were safe. Elliott was hit by a pitched ball, filling the sacks. Jensen's single scored a runner and Church's error was responsible for another tally.

Bad Peg Did It. Rego's peg to third base let Harrigan score in the sixth inning with the run which won the game. The Capitals did not look any better in the second game. Wallace got away to a very bad start, and Yakima scored enough runs in the first inning to win the game. A double, two singles, an error by Handley, a base on ball, a hit batter and a double steal resulted in the Crabapples chalking up four runs.

With two men on bases Jensen slapped the ball out of the park, and three more runs scored. Yakima grabbed another run in the seventh and wound up with another in the ninth.

Two Hits in Pinches. The Capitals came within one hit of Yakima's total, but they could not find the ball in the pinches. Doubles by Anfinson and Bankhead scored a run in the fourth, and Bankhead's triple followed by singles by Handley, Dempsey and Shoats sent over two more runs in the eighth.

Williams, the Yaks' spitball artist, had the Caps' hurler in a bad spot most of the way, and was given such a good lead by his team-mates that he had little to worry about at any time.

CRICKET GAMES WON BY THREE TOP TEAMS

Victoria, Five C's and Garrison Took Saturday's Matches

Victoria, Five C's and Garrison continue to hold the first three places in the Cricket league, winning their matches on Saturday from the second half.

The surprise of the afternoon was the splendid showing by the Albions, who had Victoria hustling all the way to win. There was not a great deal of heavy batting. Victoria won out in the second innings with two wickets to spare. The fine hitting of D. Gillespie and Marshall was responsible for the win.

The Five C's won at Beacon Hill, but not so easily as the score would indicate. The Congos have a strong attack, and even run that their opponents obtained was well earned. Tucker and Davies batted well and consistently, and were well backed up in the field.

Lawrence made his debut for the Five C's. He is an acquisition to be proud of, as his bowling proved.

The Garrison had an easy time disposing of the Army and Navy veterans at Work Point.

The scores were as follows:

COST OF THE SPORT OF KINGS

Horse-racing is conducted on a scale of splendid prodigality that no other sport can approach.

What visions of wealth are conjured up when we learn that many a famous racer has been worth more than its weight in gold to its owner? Thus, Flying Fox was sold for £33,375, and won £40,000 in stakes alone. Ormonde was bought by Mr. McDonough for £31,250 and won £28,000; while the winnings of Iainglass amounted to £27,455. In seven years Isomony's progeny won £155,538 in stake-money; Hampton's, £120,440; and Galopine's, £124,025.

And the wagering on these fleet-footed horses is on a scale no less vast. Lord George Bentinck stood to win £150,000 on one Derby, and actually won £30,000. In one year, the Derby and St. Leger added £105,000 to Gully's bank balance; and the Marquis of Hastings lost £100,000 over Hermit's Derby.

Every year £12,000,000 is spent on the turf. And racing is not only a huge, horse-breeding establishment, stakes, and so on—a sum nearly five times as large as the cost of a football £50,000,000 in bets.

But it is when we come to the year's wagers on the turf that we get the most impressive figures; for it is calculated that every twelve months less than £50,000,000 changes hands on wagers—a calculation we can easily credit when we learn that Davies, "the Leviathan bookmaker," dropped £100,000 over Redington's Derby and £50,000 over West Australian's Derby, while his clerk once paid away 70,000 sovereigns in small sums lost on one race.

Adding these two amounts together, it will be seen that the gigantic sum of £62,000,000 changes hands every year.

Let us in fancy convert our £62,000,000 into sovereigns, and fashion from them a miniature racing track. We shall find that our track of gold will be sufficiently wide for a horse to gallop over it the entire length of the Derby course of a little over a mile and a half.

So heavy is our turf load that to carry it we should have to enlist an army of ten thousand porters, each carrying nearly a hundredweight of the precious coins. Arranged in single file at intervals of a little over a yard, this procession of gold-carriers would stretch a distance of nearly six miles.

To transport our gold by rail we should require a train three hundred yards long—a train of forty-eight trucks, each containing ten tons of sovereigns. And to count our sovereigns at the rate of a hundred a minute would keep a cashier busy day and night for nearly sixteen days.

"Same" Crowd!

No less impressive are the figures representing the vast crowds which flock every year to the various race meetings. So many are they that they outnumber by approximately a million the combined populations of Scotland and Ireland. If you were to take the last man, woman, and child from the crowded counties of Yorkshire and Lancashire, and from Devonshire, you would still fall short of the number of this annual army of sportsmen.

You could form them into a procession—arranged three abreast and with a yard between successive ranks—long enough to link our offices with Moscow. They would similarly form a column, ten abreast, the head of which would be on the course at Epsom before the rear rank had left John o' Groat's—Tit-Bits.

Tom says if he were an Efficiency Expert he'd order bicycles and hot dinners at home for all the "lunch-pail sufferers" in the place.

He would go even further than that. He would have them get bikes with the

LIONEL BARRYMORE IN "JIM THE PENMAN"

Strong Film Occupies Royal Screen This Week

Lionel Barrymore in a melodrama! And playing the role of the villain in the piece!

That is the entertainment that is being offered by the Royal Victoria Theatre in presenting "Jim the Penman," which opened to-day for a six-day engagement. Mr. Barrymore doesn't threaten to foreclose the mortgage on the old homestead unless the girl marries him. He is too subtle a villain for that and also there isn't any old homestead in the play. He gets the girl, played by the ever pleasing Doris Rankin, by exercising his talent for forgery.

He sends a letter to her lover signed by her that she never wants to see him again. He sends one to her signed by the lover to the effect that the scandal which has been hinted at in her family has made their contemplated marriage impossible. Then he catches the girl on the rebound.

It is melodrama but it is the best entertainment Barrymore has ever offered on the screen. He begins his villainy by forging the girl's name on his dance programme so that he can claim more than she has been willing to offer. Then he attempts to save her father by another forgery and gets caught and barters away twenty years of forgery to a criminal gang to keep from going to jail.

But Barrymore is altogether too human to remain the hardened villain to the end and he rights everything before the final scene. The story is as gripping as any melodrama that has ever been produced but it lacks the garish incongruities of most of them.

For one desiring the highest form of emotional entertainment "Jim the Penman" provides the opportunity.

DOROTHY GISH

TRAINS DOG TO ACT

Popular Star in "The Ghost in the Garret" at Dominion

Dorothy Gish has become an animal trainer. The sprightly little Paramount star has accomplished remarkable results with her bulldog, "Mike." It came about through the taking of several thrilling scenes for Dorothy Gish's latest Paramount picture, "The Ghost in the Garret," which will be shown at the Dominion Theatre all this week.

Dorothy, as Delsie O'Dell of the story, is required to lower a bulldog down the window of a house, holding the animal, clutching in his jaws a string of sheets tied together. Miss Gish took charge of the dog for weeks before the scene was to be enacted. She first started over a high fence, then graduated to a one story shed near the studio. Later, as the dog showed his understanding, she selected a two-story barn, and finally when the real scene was ready to be taken, "Mike" was lowered down the high wall without mishap.

The dog is now a member of the Gish household, with the Gish parrot, the Gish canary birds and the Gish gold fish.

ADVICE FOR BACKACHE

When stooping hurts, when lifting and bending causes distress, that's the time to rub in lots of "Nerviline." Usually a couple of applications brings grateful relief. No liniment more soothing, more certain to kill muscular, rheumatic, or sciatic pains. Thousands of homes rely on good Old Nerviline for cramps, colic, dysentery, and external muscular pains. ETHEL CLAYTON IS STAR AT PANTAGES

"Sins of Rosanne" Is Romantic Story; African Setting

One of the most extraordinary photoplay plots ever conceived is unfolded in "Sins of Rosanne," starring with Ethel Clayton and to be shown at Pantages Theatre Monday and Tuesday. The picture was adapted from a story by Cynthia Stockley, well known for her romantic tales of South Africa, such as "April Folly," "Blue Aloes," and "The Claw."

The action takes place among the European and native colonies of Kimberley, near the famous diamond mines. Rosanne, the heroine, when an infant and dangerously near death, is taken in charge by a native Malayan woman and not only saved, but imbued with an unquenchable craving for bright colors and the life of a native.

The misfortune upon those whom she dislikes. She becomes involved in a diamond smuggling scheme, but is finally rescued by the love that enters her life from the Malay's charm.

Jack Holt is Miss Clayton's leading man in "Sins of Rosanne," and Fred Malatesta plays the "heavy." Tom Forman directed the picture, and it was adapted for the screen by Mary H. O'Connor.

There are stars—and stars. Some of them have bubble reputations. They are press-agented as the best ever. But they don't mean anything at the box-office. Their names in electric over theatre entrances simply won't attract the crowds.

But, fortunately for exhibitors, there is another variety of stars—stars who have made names for themselves by a long list of past pictures of merit, who have enormous personal followings eager to see each new picture they make, who pack theatres.

Ethel Clayton ranks among the foremost of the big-money stars. In the past few months she has given the public such sterling screen successes as "The Thirteenth Commandment," "Young Mrs. Winthrop," "A City Sparrow," and "Crooked Streets." She is a beautiful woman, a talented and painstaking actress.

A long apprenticeship on the stage to the ranks of the stars when she chose to transfer her activities to the screen.

As the heroine of "Sins of Rosanne," Miss Clayton has probably the most remarkable role of her career. At the same time, it was a most difficult task. She was called upon to portray a woman with a dual character—to outward appearance the innocent, respectable daughter of an English widow, and secretly the clever accomplice of a resally diamond smuggler. "Rosanne" is Ethel Clayton's greatest achievement.

BERNARD DURNING AT THE COLUMBIA

"Seeds of Vengeance" Is Based on Mountaineer's Feuds

Following his appearance here in "When Beards Went Dry" and "The Gift Supreme," Bernard Durning, the star, promises to reveal an unusual phase of his acting ability in "Seeds of Vengeance," a new Select Picture, which will be shown at the Columbia Theatre for three days, beginning to-day.

This picture was made from the popular novel, "The Sewing of Aid," written by Margaret Precourt Montague, and in the cast supporting Mr. Durning are included the names of several well known screen players, notably among which are Pauline Starke, who has been featured in many plays; Gloria Hope, also a well known screen player, and Eugene Bessner. Other players are Charles Adler, Jack Curtis, Evelyn Selbie, George Hernandez, Jack Levering and two boys, Burwell Hamrick and George Stone.

The story is said to be laid in the mountains of West Virginia. It is described as a powerful production, throwing to the foreground all the animalism and primitive instinct of the West Virginia mountaineers, shaded with the religious fervor for which the mountaineers are known.

REALISTIC PICTURE OF NIGHT LIFE

"While New York Sleeps" Will Be Offering at Variety

Realism and fidelity to detail are two elements on which the Fox Film Corporation, producers of "While New York Sleeps," at the Variety this week, makes its bid for the success of this picture. The photodrama is divided into three acts. The first depicts an enthralling incident which takes place in the home of a suburban millionaire. The second episode gorgeously invested, presents in pictures a version of the notorious "badger game." In the act is seen an entire dancing number from Ziegfeld's Midnight Frolic, together with scenes from the Palais Royal, a famous New York cabaret.

The third episode depicts a tragedy of New York's East Side, in which the tense action revolves about a tigerish shop girl, a dumb paralytic, his gentle, tender-hearted son, and the gangster leader of a band of thieves. In this act occurs a river fight between the New York police boat and a gasoline launch containing members of the robber gang. The New York police assisted Director Charles J. Brabin to film this scene, in fact the police boat was actually manned by policemen.

IS PUPIL OF FAMOUS DANCER

Margaret Loomis, Now at Romano, Was Formerly in Vaudeville

Margaret Loomis, the pretty screen player, has had her wish. During all the three years of her motion picture experience, she has aspired to dance before the camera. And as leading woman with Bryant Washburn in "The Sins of St. Anthony," at the Romano Theatre, she is cast as a musical comedy queen and performs a spectacular solo dance with grace and abandon.

Miss Loomis is a former pupil of Ruth St. Denis and was for several years associated in vaudeville with the famous Oriental dancer. She gave up a promising career on the stage to try her luck in pictures and has been unusually successful, playing leading roles in several Paramount Artcraft productions, including "Everywoman" and "Why Smith Left Home." But she was never so happy as when she was acting her dancing role in "The Sins of St. Anthony."

The picture was adapted by Elmer Harris from a popular magazine story by Charles Collins and was directed by James Cruze. It is a Paramount Artcraft.

The old sort—and the new

Corns used to be treated by fakers.

But science has found a better way—Blue-jay—corns. And millions have adopted it.

The modern way is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. A famous chemist perfected it. This great surgical dressing house prepares it.

Blue-jay is applied by a touch. The corn pain ends instantly. Then the corn is gently loosened. In a little while it comes out.

It is folly to pare corns or to treat them in unscientific ways. This new way is ending some 20 million corns a year. It will end yours any time you let it.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

Trail Shipments
Receipts at the Trail smelter for the week ending May 14 were 8,676 tons of ore, all from mines of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada. This brings the total receipts for the year 1921, to date to 158,353 tons.

Graham Island Black Sands
The black sands of Masset Inlet, known as the Blue Jackets, are again being treated with machines to separate the gold and platinum from the sand and the present endeavor shows promise of being successful. The work is now being conducted by a party of Vancouver and Masset men and an up-to-date machine is being used. The party is fully convinced that it will be successful and that their machine is the only one that is capable of handling such sand. The ore is expected to run from 50c to $100 in platinum and gold, mainly the former.

It is expected to launch out in the near future as far as Rose Spit, Cape Fife and down the coast a distance of twelve or fifteen miles, operating machines at various points. Points down the East coast show signs of being richer than ever the Blue Jackets.

It has always been thought that the Black sand of Graham Island was just rich enough to keep miners working but poor. It seems now, however, that the right machines are all that is required to make a successful commercial proposition.

HOLIDAY FEATURE FOR THE PRINCESS

First Performance To-morrow of "Broadway and Buttermilk"

"Broadway and Buttermilk" the next offering of the Mildred Page Players, is to be produced to-morrow evening instead of having a Wednesday night opening, as has been the custom for the past year at the Princess. This Tuesday night performance is a special holiday offering and makes it possible for many who have never had an opportunity before to witness one of the really big and worth-while productions staged by this capable company.

"Broadway and Buttermilk" is by Willard Mack. This alone is a splendid boost for any play, as Mr. Mack's string of New York successes set critics and play writers talking during the last seven years.

Miss Page will be seen in a delightful character, which should add more friends to the large following already acquired during her long stay in Victoria, and the entire cast will grace splendid parts in the manner that has won for the Mildred Page Players the name of being the best company of its size ever seen in Victoria.

On Wednesday night the cash prize of $5 will be given for the best guess on how many words Byron Alden had to say "Rolling Stones" last week; also, the Captain Kidd contest continues, and the prize next Saturday will be $30. Young people send in your guess and then come and hear the returns on Saturday. You'll see a great show and have a go at the $30 prize.

The curtain will rise at eight o'clock.

DUMBELLS ARE NOW FAMOUS

IN NEW YORK

Former Canadian Soldier Party Now Applauded

In putting over a successful show in New York City, The Dumbells, that well-known organization of former Canadian soldiers, have accomplished a notable achievement for a troupe of amateurs recently become professional. Some say that storming Broadway is as hard as breaking the Hindenburg line.

In their metropolitan debut, made at the Ambassador Theatre recently, The Dumbells took the New York jaded public by storm. The metropolitan newspapers admitted this freely, and assigned the reason for the success, the real reason, that the Dumbells brought to the big town what the big town wants. "Biff! Bang! Bang!" the vehicle which the veterans have presented all over Canada with great and continued success, has, according to the papers proved to be, in New York, a "riot."

While the critics have praised the wonderful speed of the show, it's bright lines, and it's war background that retains the fun and leaves out the tragedy of soldier life, special attention has been drawn to the advent of Ross Hamilton in the front rank of female impersonators. Ross used to do it in France for fun but these last few weeks he has found himself acclaimed by the critics of New York as a worthy rival of Julian Eltinge and Marie in the Dumbells. Ross is accepted to be all that a perfect lady should be. Arthur Holland says the French soubrette has also come in for the warmest praise here. Those who wish to compare Hamilton with Eltinge had their opportunity on May 15, when they appeared on the same bill at the Hippodrome. The veteran professional "had nothing on Ross," this was the unanimous verdict.

The arrival of the company in Manhattan has been made the occasion of a Canadian foregather such as seldom seen in the metropolis. Sir Arthur Currie, who commanded the Canadian corps, and who still takes more than a kindly interest in the boys, bespoke a warm welcome for the Dumbells from all Canadians resident here. The Canadian Club of New York and the Canadian Society greeted the players with enthusiasm. Last Friday night a block of 400 seats at the Ambassador was occupied by members of the Canadian Club, while yesterday afternoon the members were entertained by the club at a reception. Canadian emblems displayed at the theatre strike a somewhat novel note in the general scheme of New York decorations. An enormous Maple Leaf decorated the proscenium of the Ambassador.

The players have met with a splendid reception and their success was assured from the outset. Their achievement is regarded here as more remarkable in view of the history of the organization. Beginning their tours of Canada without a single professional in their ranks, under amateur direction, The Dumbells have improved their show constantly, although from the first, with no more experience than they had obtained overseas as a concert party they made a hit with the public. The present metropolitan triumph seems to have brought them to the pinnacle of success in their chosen field.

RUSSIAN CELLIST IN FINE RECITAL

Will Be Heard Here on May 31 With Mrs. Green

Mischel Cherniavsky, the well-known Russian musician, will be heard in recital on Tuesday week at the Empress ballroom, assisted by Victoria's brilliant pianist, Mrs. Gertrude Hunt Green.

Of his recital on Thursday evening in Vancouver, at Wesley Church, The Vancouver Province says:

That Mr. Cherniavsky is broadening his artistic and interpretive vision can not be denied after hearing him on the present occasion. With the very first stroke of his bow, he proclaimed a degree of serious musicianship, a certain individuality of touch and style which brought him into immediate contact with his hearers. Such is the mysterious power of the cello, that it unfailingly assimilates the character, peculiarities, yes, the very nature of the artist, thus enabling him to express these attributes with astonishing fidelity in the musical message given forth. In the case of Mr. Cherniavsky such qualities, to begin with, are founded upon musicianship of unquestioned merit, upon a thorough understanding of the resources of his instrument and finally upon a well-balanced and profound respect for the delineative content of his music.

Although the cellist's programme last night was admirably elucidated one found the artist appearing at his best in the Beethoven Symphonies. Variations, a work abounding in technical complexities and color contrasts. Mr. Cherniavsky played it throughout with genuine appreciation of its reading which established him at once as a musician whose merits were not to be considered lightly. In the Beethoven Sonata (A Major) he gave further enjoyment to his audience by the way, which he gave for the first time early this year in London. A Haydn Minuet was also given with seizing rhythmic fancy and sparkling technical brilliance while by way of contrast in response to a rousing recall the artist gave a minuet by Beethoven—and let us add that there was no mistake about the preference of the audience for the Beethoven favorite. Mr. Cherniavsky further arrested attention in his rendering of the Max Bruch Jewish Suite, "Kol Nidrei," which he clothed with requisite ecclesiastical atmosphere, beauty of tone and subtle phrasing. In a "Mazurka" by David Popper, he also rose to pyrotechnic heights in his technical delivery of a number fairly bristling with difficulties and for this clever effort he was obliged to add another offering.

"Where Men are Men" has been selected the title of the Vitaphone production which William Duncan is completing at the West Coast studio with Edith Johnson as his co-star. This is an adaptation of "The Princess of the Desert Dream," a story by Ralph Cummins which appeared in "Snappy Stories." As nearly all the action of the picture takes place in the Death Valley gold section of California during the gold fever, with the rough and ready prospectors as the characters, the title is peculiarly descriptive.

Harry C. Browne, who is playing the leading male role in "Moral Fibre," the Vitaphone production now being filmed with Corinne Griffith and Catherine Calvert as stars, is also leading man for Alice Calhoun in her new production, "Closed Doors," recently completed.

Mr. Browne, since the completion of "Closed Doors," has devoted all his energies to "Moral Fibre," and accompanied the stars to the far end of Long Island for rural scenes. His work in the early scenes of "Closed Doors" was so pleasing that he was immediately engaged for "Moral Fibre."

NAVAL OFFICERS EXCELLENT HOSTS

Attractive Arrangements Marked "at Home" in Canadian Squadron Friday

Naval men are proverbially excellent hosts and the "at home" given by the officers of H. M. C. S. Canadian Squadron on Friday afternoon fully exemplified the spirit of hospitality at its happiest. Masses of golden broom and purple lilac gave an unusually festive air to the "Aurora," on which the many guests were received and where the principal entertainment was carried out. The "Aurora" was moored alongside and offered a retreat in which ice and cooling drinks were dispensed. The summer blossoms being lavishly used in the decoration of the quarters. The guests were received by the officers of the "Aurora" and initiation into the fun of the afternoon was imparted by the formal introduction to a diver's suit, fully inflated and complete to helmet. The strains of the ship's band, the members of which were attired in comic gait costumes for the occasion, drew the guests to the deck where dancing was indulged in under a roof-like canopy of flags.

Tea was served in the officers' ward-room, at a table prettily decorated with lilac and centred with the historic silver bowl and candelabra which were presented to the "Niobe" and "Rainbow" by Lord Strathcona, and later transferred to the keeping of the "Aurora" and "Patriotic." After tea, the guests were entertained by diverting "mon-fight" staged in the water by the crews of the two ships.

Among the invited guests were Lieutenant-Governor Nichol and Mrs. Nichol, General and Mrs. J. M. Ross, Colonel and Mrs. Codville, Commander and Mrs. Hartley, Commander Holme, Captain and Mrs. J. W. Troup, Mr. Justice and Mrs. D. M. Eberts, Miss Mabel Eberts, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pooley, Colonel and Mrs. Homer-Dixon, Miss Alice Pooley, Mr. and Mrs. George G. MYSTERY SURROUNDS
SUSPECTED DROWNING
AT BEACON HILL PARK

Man Seen to Stand on Rocks
 at Horseshoe Bay

Considerable mystery surrounds
 the apparent disappearance of an unknown man on Sunday morning. The man was seen by Gerald Sandy, 4
 Menzies Street, standing on the rocks close to the water's edge at the east section of Horseshoe Bay, Beacon
 Hill, about 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning. The onlooker described the man as about 5 feet 6 inches in height, clean shaven, apparently about 35 years of age, and wearing a dark suit and a green fedora hat.

Later the man was observed to be about 100 yards out in the water, apparently fully dressed. Shouts for help came from the unknown, but by the time the water had got down to the water's edge the man had sunk, and no trace was found, with the exception of a green fedora hat which floated in subsequently.

The hat is size seven and one-eighth, a dark green fedora, made by Stetson's, Philadelphia, and sold by the Hudson's Bay Company's store at Calgary, Alberta. Inside the hat was lettered a name "Roy Gem" and the following figures, the first of which might be the number of an ex-service button with a battalion number following. The figures are "25169-850."

The incident was telephoned to the city police by George Wiper, 301
 Phoenix Place, when Constable Bishop attended in the patrol. The case is now in the hands of the Provincial Police, who are working to establish the man's identity. The onlooker of the suspected drowning is positive that the man sank, and the body did not re-appear.

The provincial police searched the beaches this morning without success, and since the time of the accident no trace has been found of the man.

Fish Market Registers Change
 While Eggs Drop Three Cents

Variations on the retail market are small in number to-day, although some notable changes have taken place. The entire salmon stock has been reduced in price, red spring salmon selling at 25c, smoked salmon at 30c, while cod, white fish, also dropped. The price was two pounds for 35c.

Many changes were registered on the feed market, all changes still showing a decline. Cotton seed meal, being in season again, is now selling at 53 1/2 a ton.
 Oil cake has dropped from 57 1/2 to 56 1/2 per ton. These are the biggest reductions on the retail feed prices.

On the dairy market eggs were the only variation, as being deducted from last week's price list. The retail quo-

BILLING RESIGNS FROM THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

London, May 22.—(Canadian Associated Press).—Pemberton Billing, independent member of Parliament for East Hertfordshire, is resigning his seat in the House of Commons, said in a letter to the Speaker that he was doing so because Premier Lloyd George had rendered the Commons "unwholesome and unfair at the instigation of the camera of international financiers," and had used his majority to "uplift the independent criticism of his bureaucratic and dishonest administration." Mr. Billing was a party of his own in the House of Commons.

A BETTER CHANCE

Followed by seven sturdy and eager-eyed children, the woman sat at the firm lips entered the restaurant and looked round for a suitable table. An obsequious waiter showed her to a comfortable corner and offered her the menu, anticipating a large order and a substantial tip.

"Let me see! Beefsteak!" murmured the woman, thoughtfully. Then she turned to her eldest daughter. "Steak for you, Bertha?" she asked.

"Yes, please, ma."

"You Reginald?"

"Yes, please, ma."

"And you, the seven children had plumped for beefsteak. Then she spoke to the waiter.

"Bring me a nice well-cooked steak and eight plates, please!"

The astounded mental gasped. "Steak for you, Bertha?" she demanded.

"Yes, please, ma."

WANT CHINESE IN PAPUA FOR COOLIE LABOR

A geological and engineering report on the Upua oilfields in Papua, has been compiled by J. Brown, of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, tabled in the Australian House of Representatives at Melbourne, by the Minister for Home and Territories (Mr. Poynton). The party of which Mr. Brown was a member consisted also of Messrs. James Gray and Debeault. Reference is made in the report to the question of native labor. Cannibalism and head hunting are being rapidly stamped out. Along the coastal region the natives are civilized; but in the more remote districts—particularly on the Fly River—they are still dangerous. The ordinary coolie is paid 10s a month, and the cost of native labor depends largely on whether native food is grown in the neighborhood of the industrial undertaking. All things considered, labor is not cheap, and skilled workmen are very scarce. If the immigration of Chinese or workers of some other nation could be arranged for, the labor situation in Papua would undoubtedly be improved. To report goes on to describe the various wells which had been sunk. Most of them had struck gas and oil, but only two had produced any oil. Between October, 1918, and June, 1919, 340 gallons had been pumped from the wells. There was no indication of oil now on the West banks of the river.

Beware of Tender Gums

Unhealthy soil kills the best of wheat. Unhealthy gums kill the best of teeth. To keep the teeth sound, keep the gums well. Watch for tender and bleeding gums. This is a symptom of Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

Pyorrhea menaces the body as well as the teeth. Not only do the gums recede and cause the teeth to decay, loosen and fall out, but the infecting Pyorrhea germs lower the body's vitality and cause many serious ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection. And use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

This Woman's Letter Tells You How to Pass the Crisis Safely

Lascelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run-down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did could have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies, but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. Duncan Brown, Lascelles, Province of Quebec.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ear, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women, and let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carry them safely through this crisis as it did Mrs. Brown.

You Are Invited to Write for Free Advice

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

La Toxa necklace. In the afternoon she will proceed by water to the Gorge to witness the regatta.

At 9 o'clock to-morrow evening Her Majesty will attend the Carnival at the Empress Hotel.

HEARTBURN LIVER TROUBLE

When the liver becomes torpid and inflamed, it cannot furnish sufficient bile to the bowels, thus causing them to become constipated.

The stomach is also affected. In the case of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach, attended by disturbed appetite, caused by great acidity. Whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and become extremely sour, vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up, is sour and sometimes bitter.

Other liver trouble symptoms are pain under the right shoulder, yellowness of the skin and eyes, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, foul breath, water brash, jaundice, constipation, etc.

Keep your liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles. Being purely vegetable they do not gripe, weaken or sicken like the old-fashioned purgatives generally do.

Mrs. Mary Strome, Glasnevin, Sask., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of heartburn and liver trouble. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine, and I can highly recommend them."

MISS CHAPMAN CARNIVAL QUEEN

Agnes Wallace and Dorothy Eversfield Maids of Honor

Miss Jessie Chapman, 736 Courtney Street, will be Queen of the Carnival during the Victoria Day celebrations in Victoria, her election having been declared at the counting of the ballots Saturday afternoon when it was shown that she had secured a total of 15,427 votes.

Miss Agnes Wallace, 15,147 votes and Miss Dorothy Eversfield, 9,919 votes, will be the Maids of Honor. Miss Redman was the fourth candidate. All of the girls worked hard in the contest, which is for a worthy cause, the proceeds going toward the expense of laying out Empress Avenue in connection with the big Memorial scheme in honor of the men from British Columbia who fell in the Great War.

The Queen appeared in her official capacity for the first time this afternoon at the school sports at the Willows, in which children from the city schools, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt participated.

To-morrow morning she will ride in a Royal conveyance through the streets of the city, her suite accompanied by the big parade which has been planned. When the procession reaches the Parliament Buildings it will halt while Acting Premier Harris performs the coronation ceremony. Her Majesty will then be drawn by twelve brawny sailors from H. M. C. S. Aurora to Beacon Hill, where an address will be given by Acting Mayor Sangster.

The Queen and her following will then take luncheon at the Empress Hotel, when she will be presented with a diamond ring and a charming

RAINS WELCOME TO ISLAND CROPS

Tomato Crop Will Be at Best in Short Time

The rain at the beginning of last week has been worth a lot to the fruit crops on Vancouver and the Gulf Islands, according to the crop report issued to-day by the horticultural branch of the Department of Agriculture.

"The precipitation amounted to .68 inches in Victoria," says the report. "This rain will do a vast amount of good to all crops."

"Bloom has fallen from practically all plums, pears and sweet cherries. Apples are in full bloom, while sour cherries are slightly past."

Strawberries Taking Shape.
"Bloom is becoming very general on all varieties of strawberries, while Marshall in early locations are the size of filberts."

"Loganberries are just beginning to show the first sign of blossom. Cane growth in both logans and raspberries has been excellent so far."

Tomatoes on Soon.
"Local greenhouse tomatoes and
